

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

The Clerk announced that Charles W. Smith, having received a majority of all the votes cast for the office of Speaker, was duly elected Speaker of the House.

The Clerk then named as a committee to conduct the Speaker-elect to the Chair, Messrs. Ashley, Henry and Moore.

The committee performed the duty assigned it and through its chairman introduced the Speaker-elect, who then addressed the House as follows:

Gentlemen of the House:

I have been grooming myself for this office, as nearly all of you know, for the past four years. During the session of 1911 I was urged by good friends to get ready for this office. It is my opinion that when you start to get ready for anything you should take time enough to get ready, so you will be prepared when you get it; and for that reason I have been all this time. But had I been able at any time to have framed up a deal that would have been satisfactory to me, my fondest hopes never would have allowed me to have fixed things up as well as my friends have fixed them up for me. I never expected that I would have the honor of being the unanimous choice of the Republican caucus, and in a similar caucus to be the unanimous choice of the Democrats as well, as happened last night.

We have before us in this session a lot of hard work to do. It is my belief that the best thing for us to do, in order that we may be able to go ahead with our work, is to get acquainted with each other just as fast as we can. There are some 67 members of this House who were not in the session of 1913, and I believe that is the duty of the members of the 1913 Legislature to use every effort to get acquainted as rapidly as possible with the new members, and to help the new members to get acquainted with each other, because I believe we shall not be able to do anything until we have accomplished that. There are ninety-nine of you and only one of me. It is going to be very easy for each and every one of you to remember me, but I have got a job ninety-nine fold, to remember you. I will take it as a favor if each and every one of you will make yourself known to me every time you meet me, if I do not already know who you are. I am not very old in politics, and I have not formed the habit of remembering faces and putting the name on the handle that belongs with it, but if you will help me I will try to get so I can say "Mr. So and So" just as quickly as I possibly can.

I did think that it was all over and that I had been in a trance. A friend of mine came along and handed me a copy of the Detroit Journal this afternoon in which it said: "House Organizes. Formal organization of House then followed, Clerk Pierce first calling for election of Speaker. The Republican caucus of ninety-five of the one hundred House members having settled last night the men to be elected, the actual selection was merely formal * * * Charles W. Smith, of Lapeer, the unanimous choice of the Republicans, was formally chosen Speaker of the House, and a committee escorted him to the Speaker's chair, from which he thanked the House in a brief address for the honor bestowed upon him." So I thought I must have been in a trance and the thing was all over. Not to put my friend Bill Calnon in bad I am going to make this a brief address, because he said it was brief. I have always known that Bill was in the forefront as a news getter and never let anyone put anything over on him, but he certainly put one over on me when the committee told me I hadn't been up here yet.

I have had distributed and laid on the desk of each member a blank upon which I ask you, each and every one, no matter whether you have ever asked for anything before or not, to write your preferences for committee places, and in the order in which you put them on the paper I shall consider them as your first choices. There will be approximately four committee places for each member, but I don't want you to tie me down to the four places in your choice. Give me all the leeway you can, and I will try my best to give you three or four places out of the seven or eight you ask for. If any of you have in mind a friend that you want listed for some job please present the request to me in writing, for I am not going to try to remember any verbal request.

I hope, gentlemen, that in the work of the coming session you will each constitute yourself a committee of one to help the Speaker get along with the work as rapidly as is consistent with good work. Of course I will not expect you to be as slow in the work as I was getting ready for this job, but it is my ambition that this legislature should give to the people of the State of Michigan the best work in the shortest time that it is feasible to do the work.

I now thank you again for this honor bestowed upon me, and my one wish is, that you will be as good friends of mine when we have gotten through as you are today, if not better—and I hope better. If I make mistakes, as I expect to, I want you to understand that they are mistakes of the head and not of the heart, because I want to do what the members of this House want me to do. Again I thank you.

The Speaker announced that the next business in order was the election of a Speaker pro tem.

The message was as follows:

Gentlemen of the Legislature:

In addressing the Michigan Legislature of 1913, I assumed that the best interests of the State could be conserved through co-operation. While the three departments of government, the executive, the legislative and the judicial are distinct, they are not independent; in other words they are so inter-related that unity of purpose must be observed. At the same time each department has its own imperative duties, its own responsibilities. Possibly there have been occasions in the past when members of the State Legislatures have, against their own best judgment, yielded to the wishes of their constituency, expecting that the Governor would correct, through his veto power, errors they might be persuaded to make. That precedent, if it ever was a precedent, is unwise and militates against efficiency in legislative action.

In the 1913 session of the Michigan Legislature, I used the veto power sparingly. The Executive Office was always open to every member of the Legislature and to every committee for conference, in order that the best interests of the State could be conserved. In the present session of 1915 I shall pursue the same plan, believing that the citizenship of the State will hold the Legislature, together with the Governor, responsible for the sacred performance of their duties. These duties are so clearly defined that no public official can be excused for going wide of the mark. The tendency of the age is to expect altogether too much of every legislative body, and under-estimate the performance of the homely every day duties of citizenship. As a result of this tendency, too many laws are put upon our statute books. The all-important ideal is quality not quantity. If by some process of sifting this Legislature could concentrate its forces upon a few important measures, a legislative step would be taken in the right direction. By careful and consistent co-operation of the legislative and executive departments, the frequency of the Governor's veto can be reduced to the minimum.

SYSTEM OF ENACTING LAWS.

I have already mailed to every member of the present Legislature a copy of a plan for proposed changes in our system of enacting laws. By adopting the essentials of this plan, this Legislature can reduce the quantity, and greatly improve the quality of our statutory laws. This proposal will not require additional legislation in order to become operative. It can be accomplished by the adoption of a rule in the Senate and House of Representatives. It has, however, the advantage of not creating any new offices nor requiring any additional appropriations. You will all agree that in the making of laws a system should be devised which will accomplish the following results: Accuracy of statement; simplicity of language; consistency; not contradictory; brevity; exclusive and inclusive averments; orderly arrangement; constitutionality. These ends are not attained in our present system.

The maker of this plan suggests that the Legislature amend its rule so as to create a joint committee of arrangement, phraseology and conformity. Every bill as it passes the committee of the whole in each house should be referred to this committee and examined as to its validity, accuracy, consistency, simplicity, brevity, orderly arrangement, phraseology, et cetera. This committee would have the power to propose amendments or even a substitute in case they found any of the foregoing imperfections. They should have no power to alter the general purpose of the bill. Every bill would pass through the hands of this committee before it is placed upon its final passage.

The primary value of this plan lies in the fact that we have here a committee of experts through whose hands every bill must pass before it becomes a law—a committee whose sole attention is directed to the discovery and the correction of the defects indicated.

I hope that you have examined this proposed plan with the utmost care. Some of the very ablest lawyers and judges, without reference to their political affiliations, have pronounced this plan worthy of adoption.

I urge upon you at this time the very great importance of giving this plan a trial at this session.

PRIMARY ELECTION LAW.

The present primary election law is the best one that Michigan has yet had on its statute books. This is proven by the fact that last August more citizens of Michigan voted at the primaries than ever before in the history of the State. Like all human laws it has its limitations. Some of these can be remedied by further legislation.

The principal complaint against the primary is that in a large field of candidates for a given office a minority candidate is sometimes chosen. This can be remedied largely by having a preferential ballot with columns for first and second choice. The chief objection to this plan lies in the fact that the voter must exercise his intelligence, the one absolutely essential thing for a voter to do.

In recent political conferences it has been suggested that the primary should include the remainder of the elective state officials. My recommendation of two years ago and repeated this year for the adoption of the short ballot, meets this demand admirably.

Several other debatable suggestions have been given publicity. Because a good workable primary law is of the greatest concern, it might be well to make a most searching investigation through a competent commission before making radical changes in our present law.

BALLOT REFORM.

If the people are to rule through the agency of the ballot at the election primary, they must simplify our election primary laws. Possibly we are under the delusion that we have had the Australian Ballot system for many years, but as a matter of fact such is not the case. It is claimed that the present party column ballot is easy for the ignorant voter to vote the straight party ticket, but it is difficult for the independent voter to split the party ticket. The double system of marking the ballot with a circle on the top and squares at the sides gives rise to endless confusion. Many voters mark the squares to the side of the first name on the ticket, believing that this mark votes the whole ticket. Election inspectors say that one voter in ten fails to mark his ballot properly, indicating that fifty thousand Michigan voters are annually disfranchised in whole or in part, by the present complicated ballot. Our ballots should be changed to the genuine Australian Ballot similar to that provided by the Massachusetts law. The advantage in this ballot is that there is but one way to mark it. No complicated instructions are necessary. In voting each candidate's name comes under the eyes of the voter, and he places a cross in front of the name of every man he wishes to vote for.

SHORT BALLOT.

Many citizens think that the people are called on to elect too many officials. An examination of our election returns for many years will disclose the fact that the people exercise much independence in voting for Governor, some in selecting a Lieutenant Governor, but below that office the candidates for the state offices receive practically the same vote regardless of their individual merits. If, for example, anything goes wrong in the State Treasurer's office, the blame is promptly laid on the Governor, although he has no control over that office.

In the interest of better government and a shorter ballot, why would it not be a good idea to submit a constitutional amendment providing for the election of Governor and Lieutenant Governor and that the remainder of the elective state officials be appointed by the Governor and to act as his cabinet and advisers in state affairs. The ballot could also be shortened by abolishing the offices of circuit court commissioners and coroners, and providing that justices of the peace may perform the duties of these officials.

PUBLICITY FOR CANDIDATES.

It is necessary that each candidate should get his name and ideas on public questions before the public. Newspaper advertising is very expensive. In this form of publicity the rich man has an advantage over his poorer brother. Small fortunes are frequently spent to gain a single office that doesn't pay one-half of the amount in return salary. I suggest that the Oregon system of publicity be carefully considered. In that State an election pamphlet is published by the State. Each candidate of every party paying a nominal sum can have a certain amount of space, give his biography and views on public questions and if some proposition or enactment is submitted, it is printed in full in this pamphlet, and an argument for and against by its most active advocate or enemy is also printed. The pamphlet is mailed at the state's expense to every registered voter ninety days before election. As a result of this publicity pamphlet, Oregon has become a great school for the study of political questions.

THE BUDGET SYSTEM.

Several states in making appropriations have tried what is called the budget system. This system requires the various departments and institutions to file their estimates in advance of a legislative session and provides for examination of these estimates by a competent authority which shall have both the time and the facilities to check the estimates down to rock-bottom necessity; that will then carry the estimates and the recommendations of the surveyors to the Legislature; and that will require the Legislature to frame one single "budget" appropriation bill to cover the entire needs of the State. This system has from time to time been advocated in Michigan. While reports from the states that have tried the system are not uniformly favorable, it might be well for this Legislature to give this proposed plan consideration. If in this session you haven't the time to perfect an adequate system, I suggest that the finance committee meet after the adjournment of the present session and sit as a special commission to recommend a suitable plan to a subsequent legislature.

TAXATION.

The taxation system of Michigan, except as to property specifically taxed, is based upon a general property tax. Its operations for the most part are satisfactory and in many respects most admirable. It is the only system of taxation with which the taxpayers of Michigan are familiar. Recommendations of radical departures from this system, such as separation of state and local taxation, transfer of the taxes paid by public service corporations from the primary school fund of the State, substitution of a progressive income tax for intangible personal property taxes, should only be made after the most careful study of the constitutional, legislative and administrative changes that would be involved. I, therefore, suggest only such changes in, or additions to existing laws as will tend to produce "equality of burden" under the present system and promote cash value assessments and better administration of the general property tax.

Repeal the present mortgage tax law and other laws exempting secured debts from all taxation on making a single fixed payment; substitute a tax providing for an annual fixed payment upon both secured and unsecured credits, bank deposits and intangible property represented by certificates other than the stocks of domestic corporations; accomplish this through a "specific tax" or preferably by amending the constitution so as to allow classification of property for taxation purposes.

Require all corporations doing business in the State and not now required to make reports and statements to the State Board of Assessors or the Board of State Tax Commissioners to make full and complete sworn statements in writing to the Board of State Tax Commissioners, the second Monday in April of each year, upon forms to be furnished by said board, giving in detail such information as the Board of State Tax Commissioners may deem necessary for properly determining the true valuation of the property of such corporation. Similar statements to be required of any individual, firm or association when deemed necessary to properly value the business of property of such individual, firm or association. A copy of such statement to be furnished to the local assessing officer as soon as practicable after the second Monday in April each year.

Provide for the assessment by the State Board of Assessors of inter-urban railroads, light and power companies and all corporations whose property extends through more than one assessing district, and the equitable apportionment of the same among the several assessing districts in which located.

Repeal the law exempting from taxation credits that can be offset by debits.

Change the personnel of the State Board of Equalization by making it consist of the three tax commissioners, the Attorney General and the Governor of the State.

Enact a law providing for a rate of taxation for state, county, municipal and school purposes, designating for each a limit beyond which taxing officers cannot go without special authorization in each case.

Require all field men on being promoted to the rank of examiner to take the constitutional oath of office, the same as is required of supervisors and other assessing officers.

FARM FORESTRY.

Amend Act No. 135, Public Acts of 1911, for the encouragement of farm forestry, by removing the restriction on the use of the products of such forests for strictly farm purposes.

The examiners of the State Tax Commission have not reported a single instance where advantage has been taken of this act, and on inquiry as to the reasons for failure to do so have invariably been told that the requirements of the act in many ways were such that they could not be complied with.

The requirements of the application are not only puzzling to the applicant and difficult to be complied with but are of little apparent benefit to the treasurer and assessing officer in determining whether it should be exempt as a farm forest. The provisions as to cutting prevent the owner from cutting and removing anything, whether posts to fence a field, or wood for fuel, or timbers for a building, or a stick for any purpose, without first notifying the supervisor of his intention to cut, and having him appraise the trees selected and issue a license to cut the same, and paying to the treasurer a fee of five per cent of the appraised valuation.

The farm wood lot is as much a part of the farm as the barn or the pasture and must be drawn upon many times a year, and the use of its products for strictly farm purposes should be as free and unrestrained as is the use of other parts of the farm, as long as the requirements as to the number of trees, of original or second growth, are not violated. The restrictions as they now exist make it impossible to so use it. From the standpoint of revenue the fee of five per cent of appraised value would not pay the necessary per diem of supervisor, treasurer and clerk, all of whom are brought into every transaction.

Restrictions upon the cutting of such farm forests for commercial purposes should be continued but restrictions upon the use of its products for general farm purposes must be done away with if any general use of the act is ever made.

CONSERVATION OF OUR NATURAL RESOURCES.

One of the great duties of this generation is to see that the natural resources of our country are conserved and passed on to future generations as little impaired as possible.

Conservation means the proper use of things, and whenever the disuse of a natural resource permits of waste, then such disuse is not true conservation. The people of this generation are entitled to the use of the natural resources of the country, but no man should be allowed to destroy the seed which is to produce the harvest for the generations to follow us.

The Public Domain Commission, which has charge of matters pertaining to conservation in this State, is doing a great work along the line of reforestation of the cut-over lands and the protection of growing timber from fire, and I would advise that some settled policy be adopted in regard to its work, and that a continuous and accumulating appropriation be made so that the results of the work now being done may be protected and perpetuated.

BLUE SKY LAW.

The last Legislature passed a law to regulate the sale of securities in this State and created the Michigan Securities Commission. Soon after the law took effect its validity was assailed in both the federal and state courts. The federal court held it invalid by reason of certain of its provisions, and the State court upheld it in all particulars, although an appeal was taken from the latter decision. Pending a final decision, the commission has enforced the law except as restrained by the federal court. It has passed upon securities aggregating $45,000,000 and has collected in fees nearly $14,000. It has prevented the sale of millions of dollars of worthless securities and has carried out the purpose of the act. At the meeting of the Attorneys General held in Washington in October a committee consisting of the Attorneys General of Michigan, Iowa and Arkansas was appointed to prepare and submit to the legislatures of the various states of the nation a new bill, which will, so far as possible, meet the objections to the validity of the present act. This bill will be submitted to you, and I earnestly recommend its enactment into law.

In this connection I call your attention to the corporation laws of the State and suggest their amendment as one of the means of preventing fraud in the sale of stocks. Under the present corporation laws only 10% of the authorized capital of the corporation is required to be paid in. Parties turning in property to a corporation fix their own values in their articles of association. I recommend that no corporation be permitted to organize unless at least 50% of its authorized capital be paid in, and that when property makes up any part of such payment that an appraisal of such property be had by some officer of the State.

PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION.

We now have a railroad commission which is given the power to fix rates and regulate the practices of railroads, telephones and power companies. I would recommend the enlargement of the powers of this commission to cover all public utility corporations of the State. Furthermore, as there can be no intelligent fixing of charges without a knowledge of the real value of the properties, I would recommend that the commission be authorized to make physical valuation of all such properties that they may deem advisable, that the rates fixed may return reasonable dividends on actual cash investment.

INDUSTRIAL DISPUTES.

In magnitude and duration, the Michigan copper strike of 1913-14 was one of the greatest that has occurred in modern times. The cost to the State, the cost to one of its greatest industries, the cost to labor, was enormous. The duty of the Governor was simple and clearly defined. Not a single life was sacrificed through any action of the Michigan National Guard, not a single member of the guard suffered at the hands of the strikers. The laws of Michigan for the protection of life and property were enforced in a manner that reflects credit upon the entire State. Capital and labor, however, are mutually dependent. The fact that the Federal Government, up to the present hour, has not been able to enact a mediation law satisfactory to either capital or labor, indicates the gravity of the problem. Sooner or later the principle of co-operation must be accepted and adopted. To the end that the best interests of all may be conserved, I suggest the creation of a court of inquiry composed of the circuit judge of the circuit where the industrial dispute arises, the Governor and Attorney General of the State, and one or more members appointed on the nomination of the parties involved; or a board composed in some other manner, which shall investigate the matter in dispute and make a public finding thereof, with such recommendations as they believe are warranted to secure justice for both parties. It is generally admitted that compulsory arbitration is impractical. In the light of legislative experience little more can be accomplished than to focus public opinion upon industrial disputes.

THE WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION LAW.

This law has been in operation a little more than two years; it has, therefore, had a practical test. On the whole, the results have been highly satisfactory. I make the following suggestions with reference to amendments:

First: There should be a provision added to the law covering under proper restrictions portions of work which are let or sublet on contract by manufacturers and builders, so as to reasonably insure the protection of the compensation law to all of the men engaged in such work, whether they are working directly for the principal or doing his work through some contract or sub-contract.

Second: Our Supreme Court has recently decided that the Michigan Compensation Law does not cover that class of injuries known as occupational diseases, such for instance as lead poisoning, but is limited strictly to injuries received by accident. There can be no reasonable ground for denying the same measure of compensation to the workman or his dependents in case of the loss of life or limb suffered through an occupational disease, as is given in case where such loss is sustained by accident. Both arise out of the employment and result from the hazards of the industry, and both are justly entitled to the same measure of compensation.

Third: The provision of the compensation law requiring the employer to furnish the injured employe with medical and hospital service and medicine for a period of three weeks following the injury is wholly inadequate. The first and greatest need of the workman in case of injury is medical attention and care, and the amount of medical attention and care furnished should in all cases be proportionate to the injury, the same as the money compensation provided for.

Fourth: The provision of section 11 part 2 of the compensation law fixing the rate of compensation in seasonable occupations, should be amended so that the earnings of the injured workman in other like employments may be taken into consideration in computing the rate of compensation. The real test should be the earning capacity of the man in the general class of work in which he was employed at the time of the injury.

Beyond a reasonable doubt other amendments will occur to members of the Legislature. My attention has been called to several other minor points, but I have not deemed them of sufficient importance to make special mention of them in this message.

BANKING REGULATION.

Experience proves that the welfare of the people in their relation to banking institutions cannot be too carefully guarded. State banks and national banks are subject to state and national supervision. In spite of this supervision there is a feeling that further steps should be taken to secure depositors. While I would not recommend extreme legislation for the further protection of the depositor, I do believe that this subject should receive careful consideration at the hands of the Legislature. I can see no reason why private banks should not have the state supervision and be required on call to file statements. Under no circumstances would I legislate so as to imperil the progress and development of small banks. There are communities where the needs of the people make the small banks a necessity. The interests of the people in these villages, however, should be as carefully guarded as are the interests of the people in the larger cities.

GOOD ROADS.

During the past two years public enthusiasm for good roads has rapidly increased throughout the United States. This enthusiasm will continue to grow. Michigan has kept pace with most of the States in the Union. I believe that our system is excellent. By this I do not mean that we have solved all the problems connected with this work. The problem of problems is how to proceed in the building of good roads so as to bestow the greatest benefit upon the whole state. Trunk lines are of tremendous importance, but we must not forget that the great majority of people are naturally most interested in good roads that lead to markets. The fact that our present good roads constitute a sort of patch-work in the State, does not argue that our plans are wholly unwise and unsatisfactory. The farmer who draws his produce over a mile of good road, and then over a mile of poor road, gets an object lesson that he cannot get from periodicals and lecturers. It is the duty of this Legislature to study the problems of good roads with reference to immediate legislation whereby these fundamental features can be substantially encouraged. One month ago I appointed a "Good Roads Commission" to investigate conditions, devise plans and make recommendations to this legislature. Two years ago I suggested that the fees arising from automobile licenses should be turned into the highway fund. I still believe that this was a wise suggestion.

MARKET COMMISSION.

The State of Michigan, through its Agricultural College, the farmer's institutes and various private organizations, is engaged in the great educational work of teaching the farmer how to double his productions. Already the effects of this teaching are manifested. Michigan ranks first in the production of potatoes and our producers are offered 20 cents a bushel for their potatoes, which is below the cost of production. While producers are receiving 20 cents a bushel for potatoes, consumers of these potatoes in southern Michigan are paying as high as 70 cents a bushel.

Michigan is the second State in the Union in the production of apples. It is reported that our production was so great last fall that thousands of bushels of apples rotted on the ground under the trees. Fancy apples, which brought 25 cents a bushel in northern Michigan, sold for 25 cents a peck and upwards in southern Michigan.

If it is the business of the State to educate the farmer to double his production, it is also the business of the State to see that increased production is properly marketed and that it does not become a disaster instead of a blessing. There is no sense in raising two blades of grass where one grew before, if no one else gets the extra blade. If the State is to continue encouraging an increasing production, it should likewise by means of a market commission take part in disposing of that increased production. Early in 1914, New York established a "Department of Foods and Markets," which is worthy of your careful study. Either a separate commission might be created or the scope of the Dairy and Food Department might be enlarged along these lines.

PUBLIC HEALTH.

According to the report of the Secretary of the State Board of Health, the total expenditures of this department have not exceeded $37,000 in the last year. Comparing Michigan with other states, the quality and quantity of health service rendered, this amount is astonishingly low. I am convinced that increased appropriations for this department would bring richer returns, measured in money, than could be procured through any other department of the State. I wish that careful consideration be given to the importance of legislation whereby the State will be divided into districts and an efficient health officer preside over each district. These health officers should be paid out of the general fund of the State. These health officers would be selected with the greatest care. With the entire State under this kind of supervision, we would make positive strides towards increasing the wealth and health of this great State. As an illustration of what efficient work will accomplish, Detroit furnishes a remarkable example in handling the tuberculosis problem. I am most emphatically in favor of conducting a health revival, and the best place to begin this revival is through the agency of the Michigan Legislature. I wish it were possible for every member of the Legislature to investigate and see for himself what can be accomplished towards stamping out tuberculosis as well as bringing health to those who are afflicted. At the State Sanatorium, Howell, provisions should be made for a children's pavilion. It ought not to be necessary for the Governor or any official or citizen to plead for the welfare of children. I feel confident that ample provisions will be made for the tubercular children who should be taken care of at Howell.

The State should also establish, in the Upper Peninsula, a branch laboratory under the immediate direction of the State Board of Health. At the present time it is practically impossible for the Upper Peninsula to submit specimens to the Lansing laboratory and get back a report in suitable time to be of value. This branch laboratory should be under the supervision of a practical bacteriologist of the Michigan State Board of Health. I further suggest that the State Board of Health receive sufficient additional appropriation to enable this board to provide a dental surgeon, whose duty it would be to visit each and every school in this State during the school term, and by lectures, lantern slides and other methods, teach the children the importance of dental hygiene. In other states wonderful results have been achieved through this phase of sanitary education. I could offer scores of other suggestions, but I am exceedingly anxious that the things of greatest importance should receive first consideration.

HABIT FORMING DRUGS.

The use of habit forming drugs destroys the body, mind and soul, and their use is increasing in Michigan to an alarming extent. Last month Congress passed laws that make stringent regulations as to inter-state shipments.

Since the last Legislature met it has developed that we practically have no law regulating the sale of morphine and its derivatives. Our special law for cocaine with a few additions could be made very effective. The Legislature should pass a law, based on our present cocaine law embracing cocaine, morphine, heroin and all other habit forming drugs which should as near as possible be uniform with the federal laws. Such a law should prevent the sale and use of all these drugs at retail except on the prescription of a reputable physician.

HOUSING REFORM.

"The housing problem is the problem of enabling the great mass of the people who want to live in decent surroundings and bring up their children under proper conditions to have such opportunities. It is also to a very large extent the problem of preventing other people who either do not care for decent conditions or are unable to achieve them from maintaining conditions which are a menace to their neighbors, to the community and civilization."

The larger cities of Michigan are especially interested in the solution of this problem. Already the states of California, Connecticut, Indiana, Kentucky, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin have housing laws. I suggest that this Legislature enact a housing law of state wide application. "A Model Housing Law," by Lawrence Vellier, Secretary National Housing Association, furnishes a scientific basis for this much needed law.

SANITARY SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

For more than a quarter of a century I have made a careful study of the school houses in Michigan. The majority of them are unsanitary and unfit for "live stock" to occupy. They rarely furnish adequate light, never furnish a proper supply of pure air, and are not comfortably heated, and on the whole are destructive to the health of school children. It should be remembered that the ordinary school room, unlike the ordinary dwelling room, is frequently occupied by a very large number of children. Probably no one reform would exert a greater influence in reducing the death rate of children than would the construction of sanitary school houses. Ordinary school officers know very little about modern sanitation. It is largely a question of how large a "pen" is required to protect the boys and girls from the inclement weather. A law should be enacted whereby all plans for school houses should be submitted to the Superintendent of Public Instruction and Secretary of the State Board of Health. These officials would approve of the heating, ventilating, lighting, in fact all of the sanitary essentials before the contracts could be entered into for construction. In states where this plan has been pursued satisfactory results have been realized.

SCHOOL BOARDS.

So far as possible, our educational interests should be divorced entirely from partisan politics. In Michigan we have not succeeded in doing this. I suggest an enactment of a mandatory law providing for city boards of education of not to exceed seven members, elected by the people at large. Such school boards should be supervisory and legislative in their function and should have the appointing of two salaried executives, a superintendent and a business manager, each of which shall be responsible for his particular work.

USE EDUCATIONAL EQUIPMENT.

Michigan cities whose population is 5000 and upwards are not using their school equipment more than 50% of the available time. During the vacations, long and short, during Saturdays and six nights of every week educational training should be offered to those who are not of "school age." Many men and women who work during the day are eager for an opportunity to acquire more knowledge and skill along their occupational lines. The city or community that uses its school equipment all of the available time invests a little more money only to realize magnificent dividends. Possibly this Legislature can see its way clear to encourage this extension of our public school work.

A WOMAN'S REFORMATORY.

A careful study of social conditions in Michigan as revealed through the industrial schools, the prisons, the asylums and the homes of epileptics and feeble minded is not altogether encouraging. Most of these institutions are growing larger. True the State is growing larger, but this fact should not blind us to the necessity of stopping, if possible, the source of the unfit. Whenever a radical cure is suggested the cry goes up that the State is endangering the cause of personal liberty. Sooner or later the problem of restricting the production of the unfit must be met. The Legislature of 1913 faced this problem and attempted the beginning of a solution. At the Industrial Home for Girls we have at the least calculation 15% to 20% who are mental defectives. The majority of the 15% to 20% should be transferred to the Michigan Home and Training School. Under existing laws a girl cannot be detained at Adrian after she is twenty-one. If she belongs to the distinctively mental defective class, she leaves the institution to become a menace to society. Incidentally I wish to say that 25% to 50% of criminals who are repeaters belong to the mentally defective class. In the better day coming these defectives will not be given their freedom until they have received such treatment as will make the propagation of their kind impossible. No greater work can occupy the attention of law makers than first how to prevent crime, second how to treat crime.

In Michigan we have no suitable reformatory for women. Ordinarily the treatment of women and children furnishes a fair measure of the quality of a state's civilization. I believe that this Legislature should lose no time in providing for a modern reformatory for women. This reformatory should not be made an annex to any of our present institutions. It should be constructed on the cottage plan whereby the principle of segregation can be observed. Furthermore, organized industry in reformatories under the best sanitary conditions indoors and out-of-doors should constitute the open road to reformation.

Such a reformatory, favorably located, would relieve our jails, the Detroit House of Correction and the Industrial Home for Girls. When you have relieved the Industrial Home for Girls of those seriously defective mentally, and those who belong in a woman's reformatory, you have remaining the girls the school was really intended to serve, the girls who can be trained for lives of noble service. Under these provisions no additional cottage or cottages would be needed immediately at the Industrial Home. Best of all with these provisions the girls at this Home could be treated as the boys at the Industrial School for Boys are treated. The penitentiary features could be eliminated and through wholesome freedom, wholesome living and wholesome training the worth of womanhood could be recognized.

CONSERVATION OF IMPORTANT RECORDS.

My attention has been called to the fact that our various state departments scattered about Lansing have in their possession many very important records. Nearly all of these records are in grave danger.

To illustrate: The Michigan Railroad Commission has records that have cost hundreds of thousands of dollars. These records involve valuations, copies of which do not exist; in fact if they were destroyed they could not be duplicated for a quarter of a million dollars, and many of them could not be duplicated at all. Beyond a reasonable doubt, other departments have equally important records.

The destruction of the records in the department of the Railroad Commission would be a greater loss than the cost of construction of a modern office building with ample room for safe storage for all. I most earnestly urge that this Legislature arrange for the construction of a modern office building with ample room for safe storage of all records; or if this undertaking is considered too expensive, by all means make provision for taking care of all important records now in possession of the various State departments.

I do not hesitate to recommend the construction of a modern office building whereby all of our departments outside of the Capitol can be housed under one roof, and their records preserved against their possible destruction by fire.

RELOCATION AND IMPERISHABLE MARKING OF THE MICHIGAN-OHIO BOUNDARY.

The Michigan-Ohio boundary, as defined by Congress in 1836, was surveyed in 1837 and resurveyed in 1842. With the disappearance of many of the wooden posts and bearing trees originally marking the position of this line its location has, in many places, become uncertain. Questions of jurisdiction have consequently arisen which can be satisfactorily settled only by a relocation of the line in strict accordance with the original survey.

It has been officially represented that an early relocation and imperishable marking of the joint boundary is of much concern to Ohio and I believe it must also be to Michigan. I, therefore, recommend to your favorable consideration an authorization of the Board of Geological Survey to execute with the authorized representatives of Ohio a relocation and imperishable marking of the Michigan-Ohio boundary with the proviso that half the cost thereof shall be borne by Ohio and that the total cost to Michigan shall not exceed the State Geologist's maximum estimate of $3,600.00.

ECONOMY.

Economy is a fundamental factor in every successful business enterprise. The State is a great business corporation. A great business corporation employs skillful managers. Skillful managers command large salaries. The State, on account of its prescribed limitations, cannot always use this form of business sense. There are features of government that cannot be fully measured in dollars and cents. The big side of government is always the human side. Our state institutions continue to increase in magnitude and in possibilities for usefulness. Michigan is one of the greatest states in the Union. If she is to keep pace with the needs of her citizenship, these appropriations must necessarily increase. On this account there is the greater necessity for watchful supervision. No longer is there any excuse for fictitious expenses that originate through political friendship. I am sure that the Legislature will co-operate with me in maintaining the utmost economy consistent with efficient service.

WOODBIDGE N. FERRIS,
Governor.

Senator Verdier moved that the joint convention take a recess until 4:30 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of listening to an address to be delivered by Hon. Albert G. Bryant, of Boston, Director of the World's Peace Foundation.

The motion prevailed.

AFTER RECESS.

4:30 o'clock p. m.

The joint convention was called to order by the President.

The business of the joint convention having been completed, the Governor, Justices of the Supreme Court and State officers withdrew.

The Speaker laid before the House the following communication:

To the Speaker and Members of the House of Representatives:

Gentlemen: Honorable Arthur J. Tuttle, United States District Judge for the Eastern District of Michigan, under whose jurisdiction the operation of the Pere Marquette Railroad is now being conducted, has authorized and directed the Receivers to lay before the Legislature of Michigan information relative to the loss sustained by the Road in the handling of its passenger business. In conformity with these instructions, the Receivers wish to present to you in a preliminary way, for such relief as you may find to be merited, the condition of the Company as it actually is today, with particular reference to the inadequacy of the compensation received for the service it performs in the carrying of passengers.

It is realized, of course, that the condition in which the Pere Marquette finds itself is not peculiar to this Road, but one which affects all roads in the State to some extent at least, and while it may affect the Pere Marquette more than the other lines on account of its greater mileage and larger number of branches, no special relief is sought by it, but only that which may properly apply to all alike. As a purely business proposition, a higher rate than that of the other roads would not help, because at competitive points our traffic would all leave us, and while we would have the rate, our competitors would get the business.

Governor Ferris, with whom the Receivers have conferred, has taken the very fair and reasonable position that if an increase in passenger fares is shown to be deserved, he will not be the one to oppose it, and suggests that the subject be presented to the Legislature in a comprehensive manner, the several railroads of the State to join in presenting one complete case showing the necessity of a general increase in passenger rates. In conformity with this suggestion, we understand that the several railroads of the State are now preparing data for submission to you, and, so far as we are concerned, we will endeavor to prepare the information which we are directed to lay before you along the same lines, so that all of the data may be considered collectively as constituting one complete case. This is with the idea, as we understand it, that confusion will be thus avoided and greater clarity obtained in the consideration of the matter.

In this connection, the findings of the Interstate Commerce Commission with reference to interstate traffic may be of interest and we invite your attention to the views of the Commission as set forth in its recent decision in the so-called Five Per Cent case. In the opinion in that case, you will note that the Commission lays down as one of its premises, the fundamental idea that railroad companies perform a function of the State and that the State owes them an opportunity to earn a fair return on the money invested. It then proceeds to show that passenger as well as freight transportation should contribute its proper share of the cost of operation and return, pointing out that since the passage of the two-cent fare laws there has been an estimated loss on ten roads in this territory of $18,000,000, the Pere Marquette alone sustaining an estimated loss of $4,266,232.16, or at a rate of $600,000 per year. The Commission expresses the belief that if statutory fares are clearly shown to be unduly burdensome, the people will cheerfully acquiesce in reasonable increases, and that the necessary legislative authority will be promptly given.

Commissioner Daniels in his opinion refers to the fact that operating and maintenance expenses have continuously risen while rates, on the other hand, have been either standing still or declining, and very succinctly remarks that a living wage is as necessary for a railroad as for an individual.

In the case of passenger fares, it is evident that the present rate is insufficient. During the last fiscal year the average rate per passenger per mile on the Pere Marquette was 1.89 cents and the cost of handling each passenger per mile was 2.2 cents. Of course, the legal rate of fare is two cents, but the competition which the road has to meet in cases where it has a longer haul brings the average rate down to the figure named. The average amount received from each passenger was 70 cents, and it cost 80 cents to carry him. The average revenue per train mile was $1.21, and the average cost of operation was $1.43. In estimating expenses the proportion of taxes, rentals and hire of equipment properly assignable to passenger traffic has been included, but all abnormal charges such as deferred depreciation have been eliminated.

It will readily be seen that such a condition as this is a burdensome one. The Interstate Commerce Commission has recognized the fact and has permitted interstate passenger fares to be increased from 2 cents to 2½ cents per mile.

The appraisal ordered by Judge Tuttle and just completed by Dean M. E. Cooley, of the University of Michigan, under the direction of the Railroad Commission, will afford a basis for other computations demonstrating conclusively the contention that the present passenger rate is not compensatory.

By direction of the Court, the Receivers have given careful consideration to the question of economy in operation, and it is our candid belief that we have gotten to the point where we can economize no further without impairing the service. It has been necessary, much to our own inconvenience and to the inconvenience of some of our patrons, owing to present conditions, to reduce in some cases the amount of service given. We are earnestly trying to do the best we can to meet a situation which is at least critical, if not desperate. It is evident that we cannot remedy the situation by economies, as large a factor as they are, and that our only hope for relief is at your hands.

We have been asked why we cannot carry passengers as cheaply as the electric roads. In answer, it might be suggested that it is not yet demonstrated that they can profitably operate at a lower rate than the steam lines. The two classes of roads do not, of course, perform the same service. No one will contend that the development in electric transportation has yet reached a point where its service is equivalent to that of the steam roads, or could take the place of it. While possibly their more frequent service locally, their less expensive operation, due to lower wages, lighter equipment and many other items, and the fact that they have selected for their operations the more densely populated portions of the state, which the railroads have built up and with whom the electric roads are now competing, might justify lower rates, it is nevertheless true that they are now charging all that their local franchise will permit, and in the cases where there are no restrictions their rates are on a parity with those of the steam roads.

The Pere Marquette is not, strictly speaking, a through line. It is more properly a local system. It is essentially and primarily a Michigan institution. It has no rich and powerful relations. Its geographical situation is not advantageous. It is surrounded on three sides by water, and subject to the competition of lake carriers. If it could have the same density of population as many other roads of the same mileage and capitalization, and if it could have the same rates that roads in other parts of the country have, it would not today be in its deplorable condition. The freight rates in the territory which it serves are the lowest in the United States.

We most earnestly invite your attention to the consideration of what shall be done to relieve the present situation of the system, which, as we have said, is primarily Michigan's railroad. It serves forty-five counties of this State and a population of two million people. They are depending on its service, and it is our belief that when they realize the existing state of affairs, they will not only be willing but anxious to have the Legislature restore in part, at least, the former passenger fare rate, to the end that compensation more nearly adequate may be received for the service rendered, and that the road may thereby be placed in a position where it will be possible to give better service and more of it.

The considerations which prompted the reduction in the rate eight years ago are certainly now without weight. Wages have been increased. Every manner and kind of supplies cost more. In other words, the high cost of living has affected the road just as it has every one else. One belief, and possibly the principal argument in 1907, was that if passenger fares were decreased, more people would ride and revenues, consequently, would be greater. This has not proved true. As a matter of fact, the normal yearly increase is a little more than half what it was previous to the reduction.

The only desire of the Federal Court and its officers, the Receivers, is that the road shall properly serve the State, and in return receive the compensation which its service merits. We will be glad to submit to you in such manner and at such times as may be agreeable to you, detailed information bearing upon the subject, and our prayer is that speedy consideration be given to the matter in order that relief may come as quickly as possible.

Respectfully yours,

PAUL H. KING,
DUDLEY E. WATERS,
Receivers.

House concurrent resolution No. 6.

Whereas, There is pending before Congress Senate bill 136, intended, through drastic regulations, to protect passengers upon boats plying on the ocean and the great lakes, which if enacted would virtually put out of business all passenger boat lines operating upon said great lakes; and,

Whereas, The passenger season on the great lakes is only for three months in midsummer, and steamers are passing and repassing each other at very short intervals, so that assistance is always near at hand in case of accident, the risk of casualties being reduced to a minimum, and is entirely different from the dangers on the ocean; and,

Whereas, Millions of passengers have been carried and no loss of life has occurred on any of the passenger boats plying on said lakes during the last ten years; and

Whereas, Whatever loss of life has occurred in that time on these lakes, has been upon freight carriers, which operate late in the season, the bulk of such loss occurring during that part of the season, and at a time when passenger and excursion boats are laid up for the winter; and,

Whereas, Many millions of dollars are invested in said passenger and excursion boats, built under government regulations, inspection and supervision, which under the proposed bills would become almost a total loss, and many thousands of persons be thrown out of employment; and,

Whereas, If under these conditions Congress should insist on enacting the proposed legislation, we feel that the excursion and passenger steamers of the great lakes should be exempted from the provisions of the bill; therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That the Legislature of the State of Michigan respectfully asks the Congress of the United States to refuse to enact the proposed measures enumerated above, as applied to the great lakes, and for the reasons contained in the preamble hereof; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted by the clerk of the House of Representatives to each of the Senators and Representatives from this state in the Congress of the United States, and they are hereby respectfully requested to oppose, by all honorable means, the enactment of this proposed legislation.

MESSAGES FROM THE SENATE.

A message was received from the Senate transmitting

Senate concurrent resolution No. 2.

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That the following be and are hereby adopted as the Joint Rules of the Senate and House of Representatives:

Rule 1. Each house shall transmit to the other all papers on which any bill or resolution shall be founded.

Rule 2. When a bill or resolution which shall have passed one house is rejected in the other, notice thereof shall be given to the house in which the same may have been passed.

Rule 3. Messages from one house to the other shall be communicated by the Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the House of Representatives, unless the house transmitting the message shall especially direct otherwise.

Rule 4. It shall be in the power of either house to amend any amendment made by the other to any bill or resolution.

Rule 5. In every case of a difference between the two houses upon any subject of legislation, the house wherein the difference arises shall advise the other house of the disagreement. Such other house shall then either recede from its position relative to the subject under consideration or insist thereon and ask for a conference. Upon granting the request for a conference the house granting the request shall name three of its members as conferees on its part at said conference, and shall notify the other house of its action. Such other house shall thereupon name three of its members as conferees on its part at said conference. The bill under consideration shall be delivered to the conferees on the part of the house in which it originated. The conferees on the part of the two houses shall meet and consider the matters of difference between the two houses. In case the conferees of the two houses are unable to agree they shall report that fact to both houses, and the bill shall accompany the report to the house in which it originated. The situation shall then be the same as if no conference had been requested. In case of an agreement the conferees of the two houses shall make detailed report thereof, which report shall be signed by at least two of the conferees of each house, and the report, together with the papers in the case, shall be submitted to the house in which the bill originated. The vote shall be on the adoption of the conference report and if the question shall be decided in the affirmative, the bill, together with the conference report, shall be transmitted to such other house with the information that the report has been adopted. If the question be decided in the negative the other house shall be notified thereof, and the situation shall then be the same as if no conference had been requested. When (the conference report having been adopted in one house) the report with the papers in the case shall have been transmitted to the other house, the question in such other house, shall be on the adoption of the conference report. If the question shall be decided in the affirmative the bill shall be returned to the house in which it originated with the information that the other house has concurred in the adoption of the conference report and the bill shall then be referred for enrollment, printing and presentation to the Governor. If the question shall be decided in the negative, the situation shall then be the same as if no conference had been requested. In either house the question on the adoption of the conference report shall not be subject to amendment or division.

Rule 6. It shall be in order for either house to recede from any subject matter of difference existing between the two houses at any time previous to a conference, whether the papers on which such difference has arisen are before the house receding, formally or informally. A majority shall govern, except in cases where two-thirds are required by the constitution; and the question, having been put and lost, shall not be again put the same day. The consideration thereof in other respects shall be regulated by the rules of the respective houses.

Rule 7. In case each house adheres to its disagreement, the bill which is the subject of difference shall be deemed lost, and shall not be again revived during the same session in either house, unless by consent of three-fourths of the members present of the house reviving it.

Rule 8. The same bill shall not amend or repeal more than one act of incorporation; nor shall the same bill appropriate public money or property to more than one local or private purpose. Any bill appropriating moneys for the payment of the officers of the government shall be confined to that purpose exclusively.

Rule 9. Whenever there shall be an election of any officer in joint convention the result shall be certified by the president of the senate and the speaker of the house of representatives; shall be announced by the presiding officers to their respective houses; shall be entered on the journal of each; and shall be communicated to the governor by the secretary of the senate and the clerk of the house of representatives.

Rule 10. Whenever both houses, by the constitutional vote, direct that any bill shall take effect immediately, a statement shall be added thereto at the enrollment of the bill in words to this effect: "This act is ordered to take immediate effect."

Rule 11. Proposals for amendments to the constitution shall be by joint resolution which in each house shall take the same course as a bill.

Rule 12. Whenever a bill shall have been passed by both houses of the legislature, the objection of the governor to the contrary notwithstanding, or whenever a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution shall have been agreed to by both houses in the manner prescribed by the constitution, such bill or such joint resolution shall be duly enrolled and signed by the presiding officers of both houses. The secretary of the senate and the clerk of the house shall then each attach a certificate to such enrolled copy, to the effect that the same has been passed or agreed to as the case may be by the senate and house respectively, in accordance with the provisions of the constitution, and shall forthwith file the same in the office of the secretary of state.

Rule 13. The title of every bill to amend or repeal existing laws passed prior to the date of the last general compilation shall refer to the chapter of the compilation containing such act, and to the sections proposed to be amended or repealed. When bills to amend existing laws are printed, words added to such laws shall be enclosed in brackets; the omission of words shall be indicated by stars; and where the proposed alteration is of such character that it cannot readily be indicated in either of the foregoing ways, it shall be indicated by printing in italics the parts differing from the existing law.

Rule 14. The legislative postoffice shall be kept open every week day from 8 o'clock a. m. to 9 o'clock p. m., and on each Sunday from 12 o'clock noon until 1 o'clock p. m., and the mail shall be delivered to the Lansing postoffice in time for the outgoing trains on Sunday evenings.

The House concurred.

A message was also received from the Senate informing the House that the Senate had concurred in the adoption of the following resolution:

House concurrent resolution No. 6.

Whereas, There is pending before Congress Senate Bill 136, intended, through drastic regulations, to protect passengers upon boats plying on the ocean and the great lakes, which if enacted would virtually put out of business all passenger boat lines operating upon said great lakes; and

Whereas, The passenger season on the great lakes is only for three months in midsummer, and steamers are passing and repassing each other at very short intervals, so that assistance is always near at hand in case of accident, the risk of casualties being reduced to a minimum, and is entirely different from the dangers on the ocean; and

Whereas, Millions of passengers have been carried and no loss of life has occurred on any of the passenger boats plying on said lakes during the last ten years; and

Whereas, Whatever loss of life has occurred in that time on these lakes, has been upon freight carriers, which operate late in the season, the bulk of such loss occurring during that part of the season, and at a time when passenger and excursion boats are laid up for the winter; and

Whereas, Many millions of dollars are invested in said passenger and excursion boats, built under government regulations, inspection and supervision, which under the proposed bills would become almost a total loss, and many thousands of persons be thrown out of employment; and

Whereas, If under these conditions Congress should insist on enacting the proposed legislation, we feel that the excursion and passenger steamers of the great lakes should be exempted from the provisions of the bill; therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That the Legislature of the State of Michigan respectfully asks the Congress of the United States to refuse to enact the proposed measures enumerated above, as applied to the great lakes, and for the reasons contained in the preamble hereof; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted by the Clerk of the House of Representatives to each of the Senators and Representatives from this state in the Congress of the United States, and they are hereby respectfully requested to oppose, by all honorable means, the enactment of this proposed legislation.

A message was also received from the Senate informing the House that the Senate had concurred in the adoption of the following resolution:

House concurrent resolution No. 3.

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That the Secretary of State be and is hereby requested to furnish each member and officer of the Legislature of 1915 with one copy of the Compiled Laws of 1897, together with one copy each of the Public Acts of the regular and special sessions published since such compilation of 1897.

A message was also received from the Senate informing the House that the Senate had concurred in the adoption of the following resolution:

House concurrent resolution No. 4.

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That the Auditor General is hereby respectfully requested to submit to this Legislature, at his earliest convenience, a tabulated statement showing, to date, all moneys received by him from non-resident liquor dealers, the source of such receipt, and the number of licenses issued to such non-resident liquor dealers under the provisions of Section 1 of Act No. 291 of the Public Acts of 1909.

PRESENTATION OF PETITIONS.

Mr. Watkins presented

Petition No. 1.

Petition of Arthur Vandenberg, chairman of special sub-committee in behalf of the Republican state central committee, proposing amendments to the primary election law.

Mr. Watkins moved that the petition be printed in full in the Journal. The motion prevailed.

The following is the petition :

To the Speaker and Members of the House of Representatives:

Gentlemen:—By direction of the Republican state central committee, I am presenting to you herewith, in the form of a petition, a report unanimously adopted by the committee in session in Grand Rapids December 29, proposing amendments in Michigan's primary laws.

We respectfully request that this petition and its subject matter be referred to the proper committee for consideration; and we ask the further privilege of being permitted to appear before such committee at the proper time for hearing.

The action of the state central committee—which forms the basis of this prayer—was based upon a report of a sub-committee which considered the entire subject for a period of two months. The report of this sub-committee—unanimously adopted by the Republican state central committee—follows herewith in full:

Your sub-committee to which was referred the problem of suggesting desirable changes in existing Michigan primary laws for the purpose of overcoming obvious weaknesses and improprieties, begs leave to report that it has given the entire subject searching consideration; and as a result of state-wide and nation-wide investigations it presents the following conclusions to your committee:

In a general way, two basic causes for complaint were considered: (1) The persistent participation of Democrats and other hostile partisans in Republican primaries for the purpose of attempting to nominate weak Republican candidates for office; (2) The lack of opportunity for party counsel under existing primary law.

Your committee believes that its present suggestions—all thoroughly in harmony with the primary principle—which will go far toward obviating both of these basic troubles without in any way infringing upon the direct control of party affairs by the party rank and file.

For the purpose of present consideration, the committee proposes that its suggestions be applied only to the nomination of candidates for governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, auditor general, attorney general and United States senator. It is the committee's thought that the proposed reforms can best be tested in connection with these chief state offices—all of the state offices that are involved in biennial fall elections. The proposals hereinafter detailed should be read in connection with the limitations set forth in this paragraph.

Your committee makes the following general advisory suggestions:

(1) Biennial fall conventions—now held after the biennial fall primaries for the purpose of nominating candidates below lieutenant gov-

enor—shall be moved forward on the calendar and held in advance of biennial fall primaries. In other words, they will become “pre-primary conventions.”

(2) Delegates to these pre-primary conventions shall come direct from the people, instead of coming from county conventions, as is the present case with state convention delegates under the present system. These delegates shall be nominated by petitions bearing signatures of from two per cent to four per cent of the party's voters in the unit from which the delegate comes. The delegates shall be elected at a spring election. (Almost everywhere there is now a spring municipal and township election, so that this recommendation will not involve an extra election). The number of delegates apportioned by a state central committee to each county shall in turn be apportioned within the county for direct election purposes, by the party's county committee. The delegates thus elected directly by the people will go direct to the “subsequent pre-primary convention” without the intervention of any county convention as at present. These delegates will, therefore, become the direct representatives of a party's rank and file. They will be responsible only to their constituents and will be free to exercise their individual best judgment for the welfare of the state and of the party.

(3) The “pre-primary state convention,” composed of these directly elected delegates, will meet in June. It will prepare the party's platform, thus permitting the promulgation of a party program of principles in advance of individual nominations, which have heretofore produced personal platforms instead. It will also select a party state central committee and a party state central committee chairman. It will then proceed, on open roll call, to consider candidates for all state offices above listed in which vacancies occur. Here will come that opportunity for party counsel and party argument which is vital to party perpetuity and party perpetuity is vital to a perpetuated democracy.

(4) If any one candidate receives a majority for a given office, his name will be certified to the Secretary of State for place on the subsequent primary ballot in the regular August primary. In case no nominee secures a majority of the convention, then no recommendation is made and no names go to the subsequent primary ballots as a result of the convention's activities. This eliminates all opportunity for the manipulation of minorities. It opens a fair, square method for a party parliament to agree, if it can, upon “recommendations” to the party electorate. If the recommendations are made in an honest and acceptable way they will prove potential in subsequent party primaries. If they are not made in this way, an untrammelled veto power remains resident in the party electorate and it can always be used to utterly confound any political malpractice that may, if ever, become evident. It is the committee's belief that the mere existence of this ultimate veto power will eliminate all possibility of malpractice. All votes in “pre-primary conventions” shall be on open roll call by counties. There shall always be an opportunity to poll any county's vote so as to register individual choices if desired. Vacancies in county delegations shall be filled, as now, by vote of a majority of the delegates present from the county in question, provided that any substitute delegates must be residents of the county which they will purport to represent.

(5) If the pre-primary convention recommends, by majority vote, a nominee for a given office, the name of this nominee will appear in first place in the proper column on the subsequent primary ballot. But it will not necessarily be the only name on the ballot. Any candidate who is dissatisfied with the recommendations of the "pre-primary convention" is free to proceed, practically as at present, to likewise get his name on the subsequent primary ballot. He can do so by filing petitions in the usual way bearing the signatures of Republican voters in a number from two to four per cent of the last party vote. This is the same provision that exists today and the only change recommended is that these signatures shall come from at least 20 counties of the state and that not more than 25 per cent of the total signatures shall come from any one county. The obvious purpose of this provision is merely to require that there shall be something more than a mere local interest in putting additional candidates on the ticket. No petitions shall be circulated until after the "pre-primary convention" has adjourned. Signatures to these petitions shall be of voters who declare themselves in the petition to be Republican voters and it shall be deemed satisfactory proof of this fact when each such petition shall bear an affidavit from the person who circulated it declaring that the signatures are genuine and that the persons signing declared themselves to be Republican electors at that time.

(6) Instead of a blanket ballot in this primary there shall be separate ballots for each party participating. The ballots for the different parties shall be of different colors. The voter declares which party ballot he desires and a record is made of the party with which the voter thus expresses an affiliation. The committee believes that this is as far as it is necessary to go in view of the other recommendations, in preserving the integrity of each party's primary. The proposition of a return to "party enrollment" was considered and discarded because of previous proven unpopularity and impracticability. The proposition that a candidate who receives a majority of all votes cast by all parties in the primary should forthwith be deemed elected, this proposition was also considered and discarded, because not only was a question of constitutionality involved, but in addition it was not deemed advisable to raise the debatable point in view of the fact that the committee felt that the balance of the proposed program would very generally accomplish purposes which are quite universally admitted to be worthy of present quest. The primaries will be held as usual and resultant nominees will go on the subsequent election ballot, as now, and thus the routine is completed.

This in a general way is the general plan which your sub-committee believes will best and most practicably answer the primary necessities of the present hour. The committee asks that disagreement with any detail in the recommendations be forgotten for the present if there can be agreement with the general plan proposed. We are not presenting a "bill" for introduction in the legislature. We are not attempting any such detail. We are merely presenting a general basis of a "petition" which it is our thought should be presented with the endorsement of the full Republican state central committee to the elections committees of the house and senate in the next state legislature. It is the committee's thought that in this latter form, the official forum, where the real responsibility resides, there can come specific debate regarding details and an ultimate perfection of a new primary system for Michigan that shall lead in primary reform development throughout the country.

This further information is made a part of the committee's report for the purpose of indicating the further basis of decision. The "pre-primary recommendation" idea as originally advanced by ex-governor Hughes of New York involved "recommendations" by political committees. The proposed Michigan plan prefers to go direct to the rank and file of the party for "recommendations" instructions. It should also be remembered that the Democratic and Progressive parties have almost never yet gone into a state primary in Michigan without some sort of an unofficial conference of party leaders preceding the primary, at which agreement has been made as to who should be the party's nominee; and as a result, in practically every instance there has always been but one Democratic or Progressive candidate for a state nomination in a primary election. The Republican plan does not leave this work of counsel and "recommendation" to a "kitchen cabinet" of party leaders, but it puts this opportunity and responsibility squarely upon a convention of some 1,500 delegates who come direct from the party's rank and file by direct popular election. Any critic who can find the slightest shadow of an excuse for complaining that your committee's proposals in the remotest degree "violate the spirit of the primary," must, if honest, flatly condemn the methods by which the Democratic party and the Progressive party have always "violated the spirit of the primary" in most far-reaching way.

Finally, your committee desires to say that before it entered upon its labors it sought wisdom from every Republican legislator-elect. Inquiry blanks were sent out to all of these gentlemen and 53 responded. Out of this number 51 expressed belief that the primary law should be changed. While only two indicated belief that it should be left unchanged. On the question of whether or not the problem should be committed to a special commission for consideration or whether it could be adequately handled by the legislature itself, 39 declared in favor of the legislature method direct; 10 declared in favor of a special commission, and four were blank. On the question of a "pre-primary convention," 33 said yes; 10, no; 10, blank. Most of those responding "no" added, that they did not understand the matter thoroughly. We also asked these legislators-elect whether they had any objections whatsoever to the work of this sub-committee and the response was almost unanimous in its frank and friendly expression of desire to hear from us with any helpful suggestions that might be offered. One lone legislator-elect constituted the minority on this proposition.

We have investigated the progress of primary reform in other states. We have sought advice from prominent citizens out of our own state. The above recommendations are the result. They are not offered with any private opinion that they are infallible; they are not offered in any expectation or desire that they be accepted without full and free debate and amendment wherever deemed advisable. The place for the consideration of the subject is in the legislative forum at Lansing and we recommend that this report be presented to the elections committees of both house and senate in the form of a "petition."

The state central committee has named another sub-committee, of which I have the honor to be chairman, for the purpose of personally presenting this subject matter to your honorable body through its proper committee; and your petitioners request such a hearing at the convenience of whatever committee may be given consideration of this prayer.

All of which is respectfully submitted on behalf of the Republican state central committee.

A. H. VANDENBERG,
Chairman Special Sub-Committee.

House resolution No. 23.

Whereas, It is generally reported through the press and other sources that one Merle Van Vorce is at present an inmate of Jackson prison and, under the law, eligible to parole; and

Whereas, It further appears that said Van Vorce did, on or about the first of December, 1914, make application to the Advisory Board in the Matter of Pardons for a parole, said board being empowered under the law to grant paroles to certain convicted prisoners confined in the various state prisons; and

Whereas, In the official report of the meeting of said board, held on December 11, 1914, there appears a statement to the effect that the application of said Van Vorce, for parole, was considered and that the said board was favorably impressed with said Van Vorce and would undoubtedly recommend that his application be granted upon the expiration of his minimum sentence; and

Whereas, On December 28, following, Neta Van Vorce, wife of said Merle Van Vorce, made public certain charges against Rev. E. H. Lougher, at that time chaplain of said Jackson prison, and said Lougher resigned from said chaplaincy while said charges were pending; and

Whereas, There is a general feeling among the people of the state that said charges preferred against said Lougher by Mrs. Van Vorce may have influenced the actions of said Advisory Board in the Matter of Pardons in the matter of the parole of said Merle Van Vorce; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Committee on State Prison at Jackson of the House of Representatives be, and they hereby are, authorized to make a thorough investigation of all matters connected with, or which they may deem bearing upon, the application of said Merle Van Vorce for parole, and to this end they are hereby given full power and authority to administer oaths, to examine any and all persons deemed proper by said committee, to issue subpoenas and compel the attendance of witnesses, and the production of books of record, papers and documents relating to said case; and be it further

Resolved, That said committee is hereby authorized to employ competent stenographic and other assistance and to incur such other and

COMMUNICATIONS FROM STATE OFFICERS.

The Speaker laid before the House a communication from the Attorney General, which was read by the Clerk.

Attorney General's Office.
Lansing, January 25, 1915.

Hon. Charles S. Pierce,

Clerk of the House of Representatives.

Dear Sir:—You have recently transmitted to this department a copy of Senate concurrent resolution No. 8, by the provisions of which my opinion is requested upon certain questions arising under section 30 of article V of the State constitution. This section provides:

“The legislature shall pass no local or special act in any case where a general act can be made applicable, and whether a general act can be made applicable shall be a judicial question. No local or special act shall take effect until approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon in the district to be affected.”

I shall discuss the different inquiries presented in the order in which they are stated in the concurrent resolution.

(1) “Are acts which regulate or prohibit the taking of fish or game in certain specific localities general or special acts?” Any legislative measure that by its terms is necessarily limited to a portion of the territory to which it might apply is, generally speaking, to be deemed a local act. It has been the holding of this department for some time past and it is my opinion now that an act relative to the taking of fish or game in a specified locality, such locality being less than the legislative jurisdiction, must be construed to be local within the meaning of the section of the constitution above quoted. Stated somewhat differently, an act designed to regulate or prohibit the taking of fish in a designated lake or river, or in a river with the tributaries thereof, is a local act.

(2) “Can a local act be amended or repealed in any case without a referendum to the electors in the district to be affected?” I believe that any measure amending or expressly repealing a local act must itself be considered to be a local act. As such it is subject to the constitutional provision and cannot become operative in any case without being submitted to the electors in the district to be affected and ratified thereby.

(3) “Can a local act be repealed with a referendum to the electors in the district to be affected?” Upon this proposition, it has been the holding of this department that a local measure may be repealed in the manner suggested by the inquiry. Undoubtedly one purpose underlying the incorporation of section 30 in article V of the constitution was the promotion of uniformity in legislation. The repeal of existing local acts is, of course, in harmony with that purpose. Furthermore, it can scarcely be presumed, in my opinion, that it was the intention of the framers of the constitution to prohibit absolutely the repeal of local acts.

(4) “Can a local act be amended with a referendum to the electors in the district to be affected?” It is my view that an amendment to a local act must stand upon the same basis as do local acts in the first instance. The inhibition of the section of the constitution above quoted to the effect that a local or special act shall not be passed in any instance where a general act can be made applicable, must be construed to apply to measures having for their purpose the amendment of local statutes. Whether or not, therefore, a local act can be amended in a given instance must depend upon the answer to the question: May a general law, that is, one applicable in terms to the entire state, be made to apply? If the subject matter is such that the situation may be reached by the general measure, then the local act is prohibited even though such local act be an amendment to a prior existing statute. Otherwise, if no law of general application can be enacted in a given instance, then a local act may be passed with a referendum providing for its submission to the electors in the district to be affected. It will be noted that no absolute rule can be laid down upon this matter, but rather each individual case that may arise must stand upon its own merits and be determined in accordance with the principles suggested.

(5) "When a local act is passed, amended or repealed by the legislature and referred to the electors in the district to be affected, in accordance with section 30 of article V of the constitution, and the extent of such district is not obviously certain, is there any general rule by which the district to be affected can be determined, or is it within the province of the legislature to determine in each case as to the district within which such referendum vote shall be taken?" Generally speaking, I am impressed that the different municipalities and political subdivisions concerned are "the district to be affected" by the terms of a local act. It is perhaps impossible to suggest any definition of this phrase that would apply in all cases. I think that it can be said, however, that the legislative declaration in each instance as to the territory that should be considered, the district affected, would be entitled to every presumption and would undoubtedly be upheld by the courts unless arbitrary and not based upon sufficient reasons. Perhaps the only thing that can be said of general application in answer to this question is that the words used in the constitutional provision shall be given their usual meaning and that in each case the district affected by a local act is the township, village or city, or combination of townships, villages and cities, in which the measure will operate if adopted by the electors.

(6) "If an act relating to the taking of fish or game in a certain specified lake or other locality is a local act, what rule, if any, can be applied to determine the district to be affected?" The answer to this question has been suggested by what has been said above. In accordance therewith, an act relating to the taking of fish in a certain lake must, I believe, be considered to affect the different townships, villages or cities within the limits of which such lake is situated. Likewise in the case of a measure regulating the taking of fish in the waters of a specified river, the district affected is the townships, villages and cities, portions of the territory of which are crossed by such river. Measures relating to the taking of game ordinarily refer in terms to political subdivisions of the state where the same shall apply and thus indicate expressly the district that shall be affected.

Trusting that this will indicate to the legislature my views with reference to the general principles involved, I am,

Very respectfully,

GRANT FELLOWS,
Attorney General.

SPECIAL ORDER.

2:30 o'clock p. m.

The Speaker announced that the hour had arrived for the Special Order, and laid before the House

House resolution No. 23.

Whereas, It is generally reported through the press and other sources that one Merle Van Vorce is at present an inmate of Jackson prison and, under the law, eligible to parole; and

Whereas, It further appears that said Van Vorce did, on or about the first of December, 1914, make application to the Advisory Board in the Matter of Pardons for a parole, said board being empowered under the law to grant paroles to certain convicted prisoners confined in the various State prisons; and

Whereas, In the official report of the meeting of said board, held on December 11, 1914, there appears a statement to the effect that the application of said Van Vorce, for parole, was considered and that the said board was favorably impressed with said Van Vorce and would undoubtedly recommend that his application be granted upon the expiration of his minimum sentence, and

Whereas, On December 28, following, Neta Van Vorce, wife of said Merle Van Vorce, made public certain charges against Rev. E. H. Lougher, at that time chaplain of said Jackson prison, and said Lougher resigned from said chaplaincy while said charges were pending; and

Whereas, There is a general feeling among the people of the State that said charges preferred against said Lougher by Mrs. Van Vorce may have influenced the actions of said Advisory Board in the Matter of Pardons in the matter of the parole of said Merle Van Vorce; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Committee on State Prison at Jackson of the House of Representatives be, and they hereby are, authorized to make a thorough investigation of all matters connected with, or which they may deem bearing upon, the application of said Merle Van Vorce for parole, and to this end they are hereby given full power and authority to administer oaths, to examine any and all persons deemed proper by said committee, to issue subpoenas and compel the attendance of witnesses, and the production of books of record, papers and documents relating to said case; and be it further

Resolved, That said committee is hereby authorized to employ competent stenographic and other assistance and to incur such other and further expenses as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this resolution; and be it further

Resolved, That said committee report its finding, together with its recommendations in the matter, to this House at the earliest possible time.

Dr. Barrett, chairman of the Commission, has a prepared address, illustrated by lantern slides, showing some very interesting charts and diagrams, with the statistical facts gleaned by the Commission, relative to the causes of insanity, feeble-mindedness, epilepsy and degeneracy, showing plainly that the foregoing named disorders are on the increase and are of sufficient menace to demand the immediate and earnest attention of the people of this State.

At a recent meeting of the Joint Board of Trustees of the State Hospitals, held at Eloise, Jan. 21, 1915, Dr. Barrett gave the address referred to, which was very highly commended by the able and experienced medical superintendents of State hospitals, trustees and visiting physicians, and it was the unanimous opinion of all present that the members of the Michigan Legislature, who will be asked to consider very important legislation along these lines, should be given the opportunity to hear, from Dr. Barrett, the very valuable information which he is in possession of.

We therefore request that you call the attention of the members of the State hospitals, public health and other committees, as well as the entire membership of the House, to the fact that Dr. Barrett has been secured to appear before them Wednesday evening, Feb. 3, at 7:30 in Representative Hall. Preparations will be made to show Dr. Barrett's figures and diagrams on canvass and it is desired that all members of the Legislature shall attend and take active part in an informal discussion of the question presented.

Very respectfully,

Rule 3. Messages from one house to the other shall be communicated by the Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the House of Representatives, unless the house transmitting the message shall especially direct otherwise.

Rule 4. It shall be in the power of either house to amend any amendment made by the other to any bill or resolution.

Rule 5. In every case of a difference between the two houses upon any subject of legislation, the house wherein the difference arises shall advise the other house of the disagreement. Such other house shall then either recede from its position relative to the subject under consideration or insist thereon and ask for a conference. Upon granting the request for a conference the house granting the request shall name three of its members as conferees on its part at said conference, and shall notify the other house of its action. Such other house shall thereupon name three of its members as conferees on its part at said conference. The bill under consideration shall be delivered to the conferees on the part of the house in which it originated. The conferees on the part of the two houses shall meet and consider the matters of difference between the two houses. In case the conferees of the two houses are unable to agree they shall report that fact to both houses, and the bill shall accompany the report to the house in which it originated. The situation shall then be the same as if no conference had been requested. In case of an agreement the conferees of the two houses shall make detailed report thereof, which report shall be signed by at least two of the conferees of each house, and the report, together with the papers in the case, shall be submitted to the house in which the bill originated. other house, the question in such other house, shall be on the adoption of the conference report. If the question shall be decided in the affirmative the bill shall be returned to the house in which it originated with the information that the other house has concurred in the adoption of the conference report and the bill shall then be referred for enrollment, printing and presentation to the Governor. If the question shall be decided in the negative, the situation shall then be the same as if no conference had been requested. In either house, the question on the adoption of the conference report shall not be subject to amendment or division.

Rule 6. It shall be in order for either house to recede from any subject matter of difference existing between the two houses at any time previous to a conference, whether the papers on which such difference has arisen are before the house receding, formally or informally. A majority shall govern, except in cases where two-thirds are required by the constitution; and the question, having been put and lost, shall not be again put the same day. The consideration thereof in other respects shall be regulated by the rules of the respective houses.

Rule 7. In case each house adheres to its disagreement, the bill which is the subject of difference shall be deemed lost, and shall not be again revived during the same session in either house, unless by consent of three-fourths of the members present of the house reviving it.

Rule 8. The same bill shall not amend or repeal more than one act of incorporation; nor shall the same bill appropriate public money or property to more than one local or private purpose. Any bill appropriating moneys for the payment of the officers of the government shall be confined to that purpose exclusively.

Rule 9. Whenever there shall be an election of any officer in joint convention the result shall be certified by the president of the senate and the speaker of the house of representatives; shall be announced by the presiding officers to their respective houses; shall be entered on the journal of each; and shall be communicated to the governor by the secretary of the senate and the clerk of the house of representatives.

Rule 11. Proposals for amendments to the constitution shall be by joint resolution which in each house shall take the same course as a bill.

Rule 12. Whenever a bill shall have been passed by both houses of the legislature, the objection of the governor to the contrary notwithstanding, or whenever a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution shall have been agreed to by both houses in the manner prescribed by the constitution, such bill or such joint resolution shall be duly enrolled and signed by the presiding officers of both houses. The secretary of the senate and the clerk of the house shall then each attach a certificate to such enrolled copy, to the effect that the same has been passed or agreed to as the case may be by the senate and house respectively, in accordance with the provisions of the constitution, and shall forthwith file the same in the office of the secretary of state.

Rule 13. The title of every bill to amend or repeal existing laws passed prior to the date of the last general compilation shall refer to the chapter of the compilation containing such act, and to the sections proposed to be amended or repealed. When bills to amend existing laws are printed, words added to such laws shall be enclosed in brackets; the omission of words shall be indicated by stars; and where the proposed alteration is of such character that it cannot readily be indicated in either of the foregoing ways, it shall be indicated by printing in italics the parts differing from the existing law.

Rule 14. The legislative postoffice shall be kept open every week day from 8 o'clock a. m. to 9 o'clock p. m., and on each Sunday from 12 o'clock noon until 1 o'clock p. m., and the mail shall be delivered to the Lansing postoffice in time for the outgoing trains on Sunday evenings.

To the Honorable Speaker of the House of Representatives of the State of Michigan:

Sir:—The commission appointed by me in pursuance of Act No. 286 of the Public Acts of 1913, on revision and consolidation of statutes, transmitted to me in November last a proposed bill designated by the commission "The Judicature Act of 1915." In accordance with the direction of the statute above mentioned this bill was published and copies thereof forwarded from the executive office to all applicants. In this manner the bill received a wide circulation, especially among lawyers. The Commission has recently met for the purpose of considering and acting upon the suggestions and criticisms called forth by the publication and circulation of the bill and they made a supplemental report, transmitting corrected and amended copies of the bill to me. I am herewith transmitting to you, in accordance with the directions of the statute aforesaid, two of these copies for introduction in the House.

I am satisfied that the commission has made a very earnest effort to carry out in a satisfactory manner the purposes for which the Legislature authorized its creation, and that the proposed bill if enacted into law will be a decided improvement over the laws on this subject as they now stand upon our statute books. I commend the bill to your very earnest and careful consideration and recommend its passage.

The report was accepted and the committee discharged.

The question being on the adoption of the amendments to the bill recommended by the committee,

The amendments were adopted.

The bill was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

By the Committee on Michigan Soldiers' Home.

The Committee on Michigan Soldiers' Home begs leave to make the following report:

We visited the Home on January 15 and 16, 1915, and made a thorough inspection of all the buildings and found them in first-class condition.

The men's building is entirely occupied.

The women's building is very much overcrowded. Inasmuch as the number of inmates of this building is increasing rapidly, steps should be taken immediately to provide more room.

There are at present 151 men and 77 women in the hospital, making this department greatly overcrowded. Many of these inmates are very old and helpless and require much attention.

There are 33 women and 12 men employed as nurses and attendants in the hospital, for whom rooms have to be provided. The overcrowded condition of the women's building and the hospital would be greatly relieved if these rooms could be utilized by the inmates of the Home. We recommend that an appropriation of $25,000 for a dormitory for the female help be allowed. The Soldiers' Homes throughout the United States are employing girls to take the place of old soldiers and waiters in the dining room, as the soldiers are getting too old and feeble to perform the work, the average age being 73½ years. The appropriation suggested would amply provide for a building sufficient to care for the nurses and attendants, and for about 40 girls to take the place of the men and old soldiers in the dining room, making a total of 85.

We most respectfully recommend as a necessity an appropriation of $200,000 to take care of the current expenses for the year ending June 30, 1916, and $200,000 for the year ending June 30, 1917, making a total of $400,000. Of this amount the government pays back into the State Treasury $100 per capita, annually, which for two years would amount to approximately $181,000. This leaves a total amount of cash from the State for current expenses for two years of $219,000.

The number of men on the rolls at present is:

For duty	830
In hospital	151
Total present	981
Absent without leave	10
Absent with leave	154
Total present and absent.....	1,145

Number of women on rolls:

For duty	128
In hospital	77
Absent with leave	37
Total number on rolls.....	1,387

We believe in strict economy in all public affairs and the cutting out of all unnecessary expenditures, but we do not believe it would be good economy to cut off necessary appropriations from old wards of the State, whom every patriotic citizen is anxious to keep with us as long as possible and give them the best the land affords to make them happy and comfortable in their old age or until call for "lights out." This is not an act of charity, but a debt of honor and gratitude that we owe them and one that the people are willing and proud to pay.

Respectfully submitted,

LESTER B. PLACE,
JOS A. SHIELDS,
LYMAN C. ROOT,
CHAS. A. HULSE.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM STATE OFFICERS.

The following communication from the Attorney General was received and read:

Attorney General's Department,
Lansing, February 16th, 1915.

Hon. Charles S. Pierce, Clerk of the House of Representatives.

Dear Sir: I beg to acknowledge receipt of your communication calling my attention to House resolution No. 27. Said resolution requests my opinion with reference to the following question: "Has the Legislature of the State of Michigan the right under the Constitution to delegate to the Railway Commission of the State the authority to regulate rates for carrying passengers on railway lines within the State?" The proposition is established beyond question that the law-making body of a State is invested with the power to prescribe definite and fixed rates for common carriers for the transportation of both passengers and freight within the limits of the State. The weight of authority seems to be also in favor of the power of the Legislature to delegate to an administrative commission the authority to fix the specific charges for such transportation, unless such delegation is prohibited by the State Constitution either expressly or by necessary implication. The opinion of the Supreme Court of this State, in the case of Michigan Central Railroad Company vs. Michigan Railroad Commission, 160 Mich. 355, is based apparently upon the theory that the actual naming of specific rates that may be charged by common carriers pursuant to a legislative enactment is, in the final analysis, an administrative and ministerial duty. A large number of authorities are cited by the Court sustaining the right of the Legislature, when not restrained by the State Constitution, to delegate to a State Railroad Commission or to a similar administrative body the authority in question. I do not think that the Constitution of 1850 contained any provision that must necessarily have been construed as prohibiting the Legislature of this State from giving to the Railroad Commission the authority contemplated by your inquiry. Section 1 of Article XIX (a) of that instrument read as follows: "The Legislature may, from time to time, pass laws establishing reasonable maximum rates of charges for the transportation of passengers and freight on different railroads in this State, and shall prohibit running contracts between such railroad companies whereby discrimination is made in favor of either of such companies as against other companies owning connecting or intersecting lines of railroad." This section was incorporated in section 7 of Article XII of the present State Constitution and certain provisions added thereto that must, I believe, be regarded as a denial of the right to delegate to the Railroad Commission the authority to fix passenger rates. A comparison of that section with the corresponding section of the Constitution of 1850, above quoted, indicates clearly the changes in substance made therein. It is as follows:

"The Legislature may, from time to time, pass laws establishing reasonable maximum rates of charges for the transportation of passengers and freight on different railroads in this State, and may pass laws establishing reasonable maximum rates of charges for the transportation of property by express companies in this State, and may delegate such power to fix reasonable maximum rates of charges for the transportation of freight by railroad companies and for the transportation of property by express companies to a commission created by law; and shall prohibit running contracts between such railroad companies whereby discrimination is made in favor of either of such companies as against other companies owning connecting or intersecting lines of railroad."

Standing alone the language of this section of the present Constitution, when construed in accordance with the ordinary rules, obviously contemplates that the Legislature may delegate the power to fix rates only in the cases expressly stated, that is, "for the transportation of freight by railroad companies and for the transportation of property by express companies." The designation of these particular instances in which the power may be vested in a commission created by law can be taken in no other way than as excluding the right to so delegate in any other instance.

In case there is any doubt as to the proper interpretation to be given to any constitutional provision it is permissible to refer to the proceedings of the body that drafted the Constitution and if possible to ascertain the actual intention therefrom. An examination of the Debates of the Constitutional Convention that drafted the present State Constitution indicates conclusively that it was the understanding of the members of that body that the right to fix rates might be delegated to the commission under the constitutional provision involved only as expressly allowed, and that the power to fix rates to be charged by railroads for the transportation of passengers was left with the Legislature to be exercised thereby.

It appears that on three occasions it was sought by some members of the Convention to so amend the section as to permit the Legislature to confer upon the Railroad Commission full power to fix passenger rates as well as freight rates. Each time, however, the amendment was lost. Remarks made by different members upon the proposition indicate that the prevailing idea of the majority was that the Legislature might fix passenger rates itself, while the fixing of freight rates was a proper subject to be handled by the Railroad Commission. The Debates also show that many members considered it a doubtful proposition as to whether the Legislature might delegate the power to fix rates, either passenger or freight, unless expressly so authorized by the Constitution. However, this may have been, we are now confronted by the fact that the Constitutional Convention unquestionably intended to withhold from the Legislature the right to delegate its power to fix passenger rates, and also by the further fact that section 7 of Article XII in the form finally agreed upon by the Convention is susceptible of no other construction, when interpreted in accordance with established rules, than as an inhibition upon the power of the Legislature to so delegate. The section of the Constitution being, as I view it, entirely free from any uncertainty or confusion, recourse to the proceedings of the Constitutional Convention is perhaps uncalled for. The views of the men who actually drafted that section are, however, of very great interest. I would especially call your attention to remarks of members of the Convention appearing on pages 1195-1204 inclusive; 1346-1349 inclusive; and 1390-1391 of the Constitutional Proceedings and Debates.

This view as to the construction to be given section 7 of Article XII makes it unnecessary to consider the question as to whether or not other provisions of the Constitution may possibly be deemed to deny the right of the Legislature to delegate to the Railroad Commission its power to fix passenger rates. Neither, as suggested at the outset, is it necessary or desirable to consider the legal aspects of the matter apart from section 7 of Article XII. I do not think that said section can be interpreted in any way other than as forbidding by necessary implication the delegation of such power. It is certain that this construction is the only one consistent with the expressed views of the members of the Constitutional Convention and the only one allowable if the intent of that body is to be given effect. I am forced to the conclusion therefore that the inquiry as stated in the resolution must be answered in the negative. I do not desire, however, by this opinion to in any way question the power of the Legislature by appropriate action, to cause full and complete investigation of this subject by the Railroad Commission, requiring it to examine the expert figures submitted by the railroads, compare them with such figures as would be obtainable through experts and other independent investigation and report at a future session of the Legislature.

Respectfully yours,

GRANT FELLOWS,
Attorney General.

REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

The Committee on Village Corporations, by Mr. Lewis, Chairman, reported

House bill No. 134, entitled

A bill to amend section 1 of chapter 7 of Act No. 3 of the Public Acts of 1895, entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation of villages within the State of Michigan, and defining their powers and duties," being section 2769 of the Compiled Laws of 1897; to empower villages to regulate, tax and license saloons.

With the recommendation that the bill pass.

The report was accepted and the committee discharged.

The bill was ordered printed, referred to the Committee of the Whole and placed on the general orders.

By the Committee on the State Public School at Coldwater.

Your Committee on the State Public School at Coldwater begs leave to make the following report:

On January 29th and 30th, 1915, we visited the institution and made a thorough inspection of all the buildings and found several of them in need of immediate and thorough repair.

Erected over forty years ago, they require constant attention and frequent painting, and this they have failed to get through lack of funds, especially during the period 1911 and 1912, when their appropriation was badly cut.

Crumbling foundations, leaking roofs and eaves, dry rot on porches, sprung doors and floors, require immediate repair, and several of the buildings are in need of immediate painting, inside and out. The equipments of the manual training and domestic science departments have not been used for some time, no funds being available to maintain competent instructors.

There are always boys and girls from 14 to 18 who need just this kind of practical training in this school and your committee in its recommendations would suggest that funds be provided for carrying on these departments.

Superintendent J. B. Montgomery has been in charge here for 17 years, and with a competent staff of teachers, cottage managers and attendants, maintains good discipline, has the valuable records of the institution systematically kept, and, as far as we could judge during our brief but searching inspection, is securing excellent results professionally.

The institution consists of the administration building, nine cottages, a school house, engine house, hospital, superintendent's residence, conservatory, beautiful grove, ten acres of playgrounds, etc.

There is a fine water and sewerage system, the latest improvements in steam heating, lighting, cooking, laundry, bathing and ventilating apparatus.

A new washing machine, steam mangle and repairs to a number of bath rooms, and new flooring for the dining hall, repairs to boilers, cement housing and walks, etc., are imperative. The farm of 160 acres, orchard of 700 apple trees, a fine herd of Holstein cattle and modern dairy equipment, seem to require the presence of a competent practical farm manager. (20 acres of fine garden.)

Most of the inmates being very young, milk is a necessity, and enough ought to be produced by the institution dairy to supply their wants. At present some 40 gallons per day are bought outside.

It has cost 45 cents per ton to haul 2,500 tons of coal annually from the side tracks nearly two miles away. If possible, rail connections should be secured.

The institution has received 7,967 children from its opening to July 1, 1914, and 92% of those given homes have made good, which augurs well for the training there received.

There were 224 children, of whom 26 were colored, and some 50 employes present during our inspection.

The current expense of this school is about $40,000 per year, and the State has spent for the support of this institution $1,723,420 to July 1, 1914. This money has been spent to give the dependent children and wards of the State a temporary home and an opportunity to fit themselves for wholesome and useful lives.

The Legislature of 1913 voted $19,000 for three buildings and $6,000 for grading and equipment, for crippled dependent children.

This was found insufficient and another $25,216 is asked for this year, to carry out the plans for such new buildings, especially adapted for crippled children.

Your committee is of the opinion that these new buildings should be placed on the Marshall road near State street, rather than on the site in rear, tentatively desired by the Board of Control, as in time we believe this branch will be the most important part of this school.

Your committee is also of the opinion that only such crippled dependents of sound mind and physically able to acquire an education that would eventually make them self-supporting should be sent to this school, and that the State should establish a hospital near the University of Michigan or the Detroit School of Medicine for the crippled dependents who require a personal attendant and the attention of medical experts for physical and mental reasons.

We submit that in establishing this new department at this school, this Legislature should look well into the future as well as providing for immediate needs. Consequently we favor the erection of two-story buildings with elevator service, providing modern homes and equipment for at least 100 cripples, instead of 50, as now planned, and would recommend that appropriations for such buildings in section 3 be increased accordingly, by the Finance and the Ways and Means committees, upon hearings, to the authorities in charge of this school. Should we provide finally for building additions for crippled dependents at this school, then more farm acreage may be desirable, especially for augmenting the pure milk supply so essential to this school, and the Millins-Watson farm of 188 acres, abutting and cutting into the present State property of 160 acres, can be secured at going farm values in that vicinity.

This school watches faithfully over the 1,600 wards of the State in homes, and has over 4,000 launched on life's activities, who seem by their success the best proof of the good this school is doing.

Your committee believes in strict economy in all public affairs and the cutting off of all unnecessary expenditures, but we do not approve false economy which cuts down appropriations for a period below the amounts required for most urgent needs and necessary improvements. All this really causes loss and waste in the end.

And in this spirit we shall submit to you the appropriation recommendations of your committee for the ensuing two years, confident that these amounts are absolutely necessary, that these amounts will be well spent, and that they are for an institution which gives more than charity by conserving the dependent youth and providing homes under constant State supervision.

REPORTS OF SPECIAL COMMITTEES.

By the Special Committee appointed to draft resolutions in memory of the late Representative Homer McGraw.

Your Special Committee appointed to prepare a memorial for our fellow member, Homer McGraw, report the following:

Homer McGraw, a Representative from the First District of Wayne county, departed this life on the 27th day of January, 1915. He had scarcely entered upon his duties as a member of this House before he was summoned by the gentle messenger called Death to enter into the Silent Land.

He was a man of sterling worth. His life had been one of active devotion to public affairs in the city of Detroit. Although not endowed with a robust constitution, he thought it was his duty to serve the State in the capacity of lawmaker, not knowing, perhaps, how arduous such duty would be if conscientiously performed. He was a man of genial disposition, of kindly heart and gentle impulses, of broad knowledge of human affairs, and we feel that in his taking off the State has lost a faithful public servant, his neighbors a wise counselor, his family a beloved husband and father.

Resolved, That this memorial be spread upon the Journal of the House of Representatives, and an engrossed copy of the same be sent to his family.

CHAS. FLOWERS,
WILLIAM F. JEROME.

Memorial of the Michigan Library Association, relative to fire conditions in the State Library.

To the Members of the Michigan Legislature:

The Michigan Library Association, two years ago, presented the following memorial to the State Legislature. The condition of affairs at the State Library therein referred to was not remedied at that session.

In the meantime the need for such action has become more urgent, and the Michigan Library Association at its recent annual meeting directed its officers that the memorial prepared two years ago should be presented to the members at this session and that the importance of this matter should be called to the attention of the people of the State.

THEO. W. KOCH,
President.

ADELIA REID,
Secretary.

The following is the memorial:

The Michigan Library Association regards with grave concern the exposed condition in which the people's great collection of books in the State Library at Lansing is housed. This is one of the really great State libraries of the country, and there is contained in it much printed and manuscript material which could never be replaced; much could be replaced only after the expenditure of tens of thousands of dollars and many years of effort. In case of loss by fire, the question would be not, "What price must be paid to replace them?" but rather, "Can they be bought at all, at any price?"

The material in the State Library is of increasing interest and value to all the people of the State today, and of even greater interest and value to future generations. It should be housed in such a way that the risk of loss or damage by fire is reduced to a minimum. In a few minutes, as the Library stands today, the accumulated treasures may be forever destroyed. If such a calamity should befall the people of the State of Michigan it would be due to the lack of merely prudent foresight in guarding and housing the same.

That there is a real danger of such loss by fire will be recognized by everyone when it is recalled that in recent years a large number of important libraries suffered in this way. Among these may be mentioned the following:

The fire in the State House at Madison, Wis., when the several department libraries and the Wisconsin traveling library collections were destroyed; the burning of the Library of Architecture and Art, of the Maryland Institute, at Baltimore, over 20,000 volumes; the burning of the medical library of McGill University, Montreal; the serious damage by fire of a considerable number of volumes of the Springfield, Mass., City Library; the total destruction of over 100,000 volumes in the University Library of Turin, Italy, an incalculable loss to the whole world of letters; the destruction of a branch of the St. Louis Public Library; the destruction of the San Francisco Public Library, with several of the branches, as well as other libraries in that city; the destruction of the unique insurance library of the Equitable Life Insurance Society of New York, with over 10,000 volumes on the history and science of insurance from the earliest times; the total destruction of the Paterson, N. J., Public Library; the burning of the library of the University of Virginia; and last and most important the destruction of the most valuable State library in the United States, 450,000 volumes, 270,000 manuscripts, 300,000 pamphlets, when the State Capitol at Albany, N. Y., was burned. State capitol buildings, it may be added, seem to be subject to more than the usual risk from fire, as is witnessed by the partial or total destruction of such buildings in recent years in the States of Missouri, New York, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

In view of this very real danger which constantly threatens the Library at Lansing; in view of the increasing importance and value of such a collection, both now and in the future, the Michigan Library Association urges that the Legislature of Michigan, representing the people and being responsible thereto, provide at the earliest opportunity suitable means for the safeguarding of the State Library, either by the addition of a fire-proof wing to the Capitol, or by the erection of a separate building, the latter being in every way the most desirable method of taking care of the situation.

The memorial was referred to the Committee on State Capitol and Public Buildings.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM STATE OFFICERS.

The following communication from the Auditor General was received and read:

Auditor General's Office,
Lansing, Michigan,
March 2, 1915.

Hon. Charles W. Smith, Speaker, House of Representatives.

My dear Mr. Smith: There is a balance due the railroads for the transportation of veterans to the Gettysburg reunion, of $1,569.14. The amount appropriated by Act 57 of 1913, $20,000, was not sufficient to pay for the transportation and other expenses incurred but the several railroads agreed to accept payment on account from the funds available for the purpose and wait for the balance until the Legislature of 1915 appropriated a sufficient amount to pay the claims.

The several railroads are now calling our attention to the fact that they have not received the balance due them and I would respectfully suggest that you call the attention of the members of the House to the advisability of passing the bill making the appropriation for the purpose so as to avoid delay in paying the claims of the railroads.

A bill is being considered in the Senate which appropriates $2,000 to cover the balance due the railroads and the expenses of a few of the veterans.

I call your attention to this matter, as the faith of the State is pledged to pay the balance due the railroads and they are now asking for the amounts due them.

Yours truly,
O. B. FULLER,
Auditor General.

The communication was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM STATE OFFICERS.

The following communication from the Michigan Railroad Commission was received and read:

To the Honorable, the Speaker and House of Representatives of the State of Michigan.

Gentlemen: In response to House resolution No. 32, requesting the members of the Michigan Railroad Commission to transmit their views "on the question of permitting the railroads of this state to increase their passenger rates, together with such data and statistics relative to the question as may be available from the records" we beg leave to reply:

The only sources of information bearing upon the question available to the Commission are such as are general in character, derived from the Opinions of the Interstate Commerce Commission and other governmental bodies and from the annual reports of the several railroad companies of the State, which are, except as to the segregation of State and interstate items, in practical duplication of the reports made by the roads to the Interstate Commerce Commission. The Commission believes that such reports are reasonably accurate in the statistics and information they purport to convey, but in this connection it should be observed that in a business so vast as railroad transportation, involving intricate accounts and divisions in revenue and expenses apportionable to freight and passenger traffic, and between intra and interstate transportation, the meaning of the statistics cannot always be known with precision except upon the most painstaking analysis of the accounts, and by studies which extend comparisons over a series of years, requiring the service of experienced engineers and trained accountants.

The following data and conclusions are not based upon any such careful scrutiny of the sources of information. As already stated, they are drawn from information general in character, and from the official reports on file in the offices of the Commission.

The question at issue would seem to involve two matters of inquiry: First, are the railroads of Michigan as a whole receiving sufficient revenue to enable them to properly discharge their duties as common carriers? Secondly, if their revenues are inadequate, is it in any material measure because of the limitations fixed by statute for passenger transportation?

The information at our command would seem to indicate that the railroads of the State were not earning sufficient revenue as a whole enable them to pay the costs of operation, pay taxes, maintain their property in reasonable efficiency, and yield a reasonable return upon the capital invested, all of which are necessary to the proper discharge of their functions as common carriers.

Among many things of a general character which have persuaded the Commission to this conclusion is the so-called "Five Per Cent Case," decided by the Interstate Commerce Commission on the 29th of July last. In that case the Commission after a most extended hearing and elaborate investigation allowed certain increases in the freight rates in Central Freight Association territory, and made ten tentative suggestions of means whereby the carriers might still further increase their revenues. The first suggestion was as to the increase in passenger fares. The Commission said:—

"Increases in passenger fares have recently been made in New England, following conferences between the State commissions, the carriers, and representatives of the public, and they appear to have been cheerfully acquiesced in by the traveling public. Extra charges for special accommodations have also been made.

"The need of additional revenues is greatest in central freight association territory, and existing statutes in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Michigan may be obstacles to the raising of passenger fares in those States. But we are confident that if these statutory fares are clearly shown to be unduly burdensome to the carriers, the people of these great States will cheerfully acquiesce, as the people of New England have done, in reasonable increases, and that the necessary legislative authority will be promptly given. The traveling public is giving expression to its demands for better service, better accommodations, and for the adoption by carriers of all the devices that make for safety. A public that demands such a service cannot reasonably object to the payment of a reasonable compensation therefor."

It is common knowledge that interstate rates are now in effect higher than the intrastate rates with the acquiescence of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The inadequacy of the revenue of the roads of the State would likewise seem to be shown from a compilation from the records of the various companies of the State.

Owing to certain economic conditions with which most people are familiar, there has for more than a decade last past been a progressive lowering of the average revenue per ton mile for freight transportation, and within that time there has been a likewise lowering by statute of the average revenue per passenger per mile in passenger transportation. Exhibit No. 1 discloses the progressive lowering of the average revenue per ton mile which the railroads have derived from freight transportation, while Exhibit No. 2 discloses a like condition as to passenger traffic, as between the years 1900 and 1914.

While there has been this progressive lowering of revenue for each unit of freight and passenger traffic, Exhibit No. 3 discloses that there has been a progressive increase in the compensation of employes, which is the largest item of expense in the cost of transportation. It will be noted from Exhibit No. 3 that the compensation of employes other than general officers has progressively increased from a daily average of $1.78 with a total cost of $16,115,727.64 in 1900, to a daily average of $2.45 and a total cost of $33,439,585.55 in 1914. These increases, it will be observed, have been likewise increases in the ratio to revenue. Exhibit No. 4 also discloses that the taxes paid by the railroad companies of this State have increased from a total of $1,353,549.02 in 1900, to a total of $4,380,094.11 in 1914, while the ratio of taxes to operating revenue has increased from 3.46 to 6.23 in the same period.

The economic changes which have brought about the reduction of revenue for each unit of service, while there has been a progressive increase in the compensation paid to labor and for taxes, has necessitated marked changes in the conduct of the business of transportation and the facilities employed. To meet the changing conditions railroad companies have been obliged to provide larger locomotives, freight cars with greatly increased capacity and for special purposes, heavier rail and stronger bridges, while governmental authority has required almost every facility conceivable for public safety. To meet this condition has required the investment of large amounts of new capital. Exhibit No. 5 discloses that between the years 1907 and up to and including 1914, there was an increase in the roads and equipment in Michigan of more than $78,000,000, an average of more than $11,000,000 a year.

Whatever may be said as to the capitalization of railroads prior to 1908, the investments made since that time have been mostly under the supervision of stringent governmental authority, and the record must be presumed to be fairly accurate in character. Exhibit No. 6, embracing Columns 7 to 15 inclusive, shows the operating revenue and expense for freight and passenger service within the state for the years 1900 to 1914 inclusive. The practical result of the increasing compensation of labor, taxes, and the increased capital required to meet the economic changes necessitated by a falling rate is disclosed in Column 3 of Exhibit No. 5, and also by Exhibit No. 7, which last exhibit discloses that out of 56 operating railroads 33 closed the fiscal year of 1914 with a deficit. The roads of the State taken as a whole, after paying costs of operation, maintenance, taxes and minor deductions, lack $7,601,388.17 of having sufficient to pay interest on their funded debt properly apportionable to Michigan.

This Exhibit is abnormal only so far as the Pere Marquette Railroad system is concerned, there having been charged into operating expenses of the fiscal year the sum of $1,748,950.66 which should have been charged to operating expenses of preceding years, but this makes no material change in the conclusions to be drawn from this exhibit.

Exhibit No. 8 is added for the purpose of showing the total funded debt of Michigan railroads, the total interest accruals upon the same, and the average per cent of interest, with an apportionment for the year 1914 of the funded debt of the entire systems to the Michigan properties. This exhibit is computed only upon the par value rate, with no reference to the discount at which the securities were floated, and which must be considered as a part of the interest rate.

From the foregoing exhibits it must be clear that the railroads as a whole have not earned sufficient revenue to meet their reasonable needs and obligations. The second problem is thus presented: Is the deficiency of revenue because of an inadequate passenger rate? This is a difficult question to answer in a specific case. However, as a general problem there are methods that will at least show whether the deficit lies in freight or passenger revenues.

It is a settled principle of railway economics that passenger service is relatively more expensive than freight service. This is a matter of almost common knowledge. The class of equipment, the speed of trains, and every other consideration tend to make the passenger service comparatively more expensive than the freight service. In the Minnesota Rate Case the special master appointed by the United States District Court of Minnesota had presented to him and analyzed a considerable mass of evidence bearing on the earning power of the various properties in question. While the ultimate disposal of this case was not fully an approval of the work of the special master, still the results of his analysis of operating revenue and operating expenses were not assailed and are some guide as to the factor to be employed in the division of this character.

Justice Hughes, in his decision of the case, said:

"There was no substantial dispute as to the amount of the entire revenue assignable to the State or as to its division between interstate and intrastate business, as an examination of the transactions in which the revenue was obtained permitted the making of the requisite apportionments with reasonable certainty.

"The master also ascertained the total expense incurred by the carrier within the State. This expense was first divided between freight and passenger business. Those items of cost which were directly incurred in each sort of business, and not common to both, were directly assigned; and such items were found to cover about 60 per cent of all expenses. The remaining items, those of common expense, were divided between the freight and passenger business upon the relation, as to most of them, of revenue train-miles, and as to the others, of revenue engine-miles."

Without reproducing the details of the computation, it is sufficient to say that in the Northern Pacific case, passenger revenue was earned at an expense relatively 36% greater than freight revenue. In the Great Northern case passenger revenue was earned at an expense relatively 41% greater than freight revenue. In the Minneapolis & St. Louis case passenger revenue was earned at an expense relatively 14.1% greater than freight revenue. For the purpose of applying the principle of analysis, we have selected the transactions in freight and passenger revenue for the year 1913 as being typical and not far removed from the present date. For this year the passenger service train revenue was $21,470,593.84 out of total operating revenues of $71,926,230.39. The passenger service train revenue thus constitutes 29.8% of the total revenue. If the passenger revenue in the Minnesota Rate Cases was earned at relatively from 14 to 40 per cent higher than freight revenue, it must be fair to say that the Michigan passenger revenue is earned at an expense relatively ten per cent greater than freight revenue is earned. A solution of an equation of this character would show that the total expenses for the year 1913 should be divided between passenger service train revenue and freight revenue on the basis of 32 per cent and 68 per cent.

Division of Expenses....	{	Passenger = 32% =	$18,177,224 12
		Freight = 68% =	$38,626,601 25
		Total = 100% =	$56,803,825 37

SUMMARY OF RESULTS.

Passenger service train revenue.....	$21,470,593 84
Passenger expenses	18,177,224 12
Net result passenger operations.....	$3,293,369 72
Deduct 32% of total taxes, Michigan.....	1,303,447 01
Net result of passenger operations less taxes...	$1,989,922 71

For the purpose of testing the net return on investment, we will compute it on bonded debt assigned to Michigan. The total increase in road and equipment investment from 1913 to 1914 was $5,489,068.00. This deducted from bonded debt for Michigan in 1914 gives the result $246,073,712.00 which is taken as bonded debt for 1913. This in turn is divided on the basis of revenue, 29.8% being assigned to passenger business, or $73,329,966.00. To pay a return of 6% on this amount will require $4,399,797.96. In the department of the business to which it has been applied it has yielded a net return of $1,989,922.71, or 2.71%; that is, a sum $2,409,875.25 less than a return of six per cent on the bonded debt, which in the computation made is apportioned to the passenger business in Michigan.

The question arises, what will an increase in passenger rates of one-half cent per mile add to passenger revenue? The average revenue per passenger per mile was 1.922 cents. An increase of one-half cent per mile is an increase of one-fourth of the rate for the year 1913, which being applied to the average rate for that year gives .48 cents net per mile provided it were a raise of one-half cent on all the roads operating in the State. In fact there are still many three cent roads in the State, and when competitive conditions are considered, it is concluded a fair estimate to make the net average increase not more than .35 cents per mile. The total passenger miles taken at 910,000,000 at this increased rate will yield an additional revenue of $3,185,000.00. Practically the effect of the raise in rate proposed will not produce this amount of revenue, because the interstate roads are already charging the higher rate for interstate traffic.

Dated this third day of March, 1915.

Respectfully submitted,

MICHIGAN RAILROAD COMMISSION,

LAWTON T. HEMANS,

Chairman.

C. L. GLASGOW,

Commissioner.

C. S. CUNNINGHAM,

Commissioner.

Column 19 shows the total number of days worked by the various classes of employes on the respective railroads in the state for the year indicated. Those items marked with a "+" do not include the employes of the C. M. & St. P. Ry., which was not reported in shape to be included. Those items marked with the character "x" have been arrived at by proportioning the returns for the respective years for the G. R. & I. Ry. and W. & M. R. R., which were reported entire line for those years. In the year 1909 two or three very small roads did not report. The omissions are not enough to appreciably affect the table.

Column 20 shows the expenditures in the State of Michigan yearly for all classes of employes except general officers.

Column 21 shows the average daily compensation for the respective years of the employes of railroads in the State of Michigan. General officers are not included in the total.

Column 22 shows the ratio of compensation of employes yearly to the total operating revenue. This column can be used in connection with Column 11 to show the ratio of total operating expenses less compensation of employes to total operating revenue.

These columns have been computed with care, and notwithstanding the small discrepancies mentioned, are a very close statement of the days employed and total expenditures of the railways for employes for the years mentioned.

Column 16—Taxes, Michigan—shows for the respective years the taxes paid by railroads to the State of Michigan alone for those years. In the case of railroads wholly within the State of Michigan, it does not include the entire taxes, such as United States Income Tax and taxes of that nature. It includes only the actual tax accruals to the State of Michigan.

Column 17—Ratio of Taxes to Operating Revenue—have been computed on the basis of operating revenue as mentioned in note following column 14.

Column 18—Ratio of Taxes to Investment—have been computed in only one or two instances. It was the purpose to show these, but lack of time has prevented our preparing them. They are computed on this basis for the purpose of deducting from ratio shown in column 3, and therefore showing the net result per cent on investment, Michigan, after taxes are paid.

Column 1 shows the total road and equipment investments of railroads in the State as shown by the roads in their reports. In case interstate roads have no reported Michigan proportion it has been apportioned on a reasonable basis. Items so apportioned are the Cincinnati Northern, Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic, Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, Michigan Central, Detroit River Tunnel, Pere Marquette and Wabash.

Column 2 is shown here for the reason that it has been deducted from the value for those years, the result shown in column 1. By this closer comparative ratios could be derived for column 3. The reason for this is that the expense accounts for those years showed "rents of tracks, yards and terminals" which was expended for rents of the property shown in column 2.

Column 3—Ratio Net Results—(Column 13) to Investment—is the same "per cent of investment." Its purpose is to show the comparative ratios.

Column 7—Freight Revenue—includes total amounts earned for the respective years by all carriers in the State for the transportation of freight.

Column 8—Passenger Revenue—includes entire amounts earned for the respective years by all the carriers in the State for the transportation of passengers.

Column 9—Passenger Service Train Revenue—shows for the respective years the total amount earned by all the carriers in the State for the transportation of passengers shown in column 8, together with excess baggage revenue, parlor and chair car revenue, mail revenue, express revenue, milk revenue and other passenger train revenue.

Column 10 includes the total revenue for the respective years, derived by all the carriers in the State from the conduct of the railroad business. It shows the items usually spoken of as "gross earnings." It not only includes freight revenue shown in column 7 and passenger service train revenue shown in column 9, but also includes switching revenue, special service train revenue and miscellaneous transportation revenue, together with certain revenues from operations other than transportation, such as station and train privileges, parcel room receipts, storage of freight and baggage, telegraph service, etc. It includes the total earnings from all the properties in the State devoted to railway operations.

Column 11—Operating Expenses—shows the total operating expenses for the respective years as reported by the various railroads operating in the State. It includes all expenses incident to the conduct of transportation, but does not include taxes or any overhead expenses sometimes called "fixed charges" such as interest deductions. This column has been made with a view to showing the relative cost of conducting railway operations for each year. From 1900 to 1906 the roads were operating under a different classification of accounts from the classification governing their expense accounts from 1908 to 1914 inclusive.

That is, a change was made in the classification of expense accounts from July 1st, 1907, until the present time. Prior to 1907 the expense accounts contained the following items, which the present classification of accounts does not contain, that is, hire of equipment, rents for tracks, yards and terminals; rents for buildings and other property, and taxes. Column 11, as shown, does not contain tax items, but does contain the other items. In any event, these items, hire of equipment, rents for tracks, yards and terminals, rents for buildings and other property, are not large and will not seriously affect comparative results. The effect is to make the ratios shown in column 12 slightly greater than they should be for the years 1900 to 1906 inclusive.

Column 13 shows the net result of operations for the respective years for the State of Michigan. It is derived by deducting operating expenses from total operating revenue.

Column 14—Ratio of Net Result to Operating Revenue—shows the per cent of total revenue derived from the business of the year which is available to the companies operating in the State from Michigan business for the payment of taxes, current income charges incident to the business, and also for the payment of interest on funded debt and other overhead charges incident to the year's business transactions. It will be noted that this ratio is the complement of the ratio shown in column 12. It is also shown on the same basis as the ratio shown in column 17, with reference to taxes, and the net ratio after the deduction of taxes can be shown by deducting the taxes ratios in column 17 from the ratios shown in column 14. The ratios shown in column 15 have not been completed and are not important.

The above table is an income statement of the operating railroads of Michigan as to their Michigan business. In the second column the net results of the year's operations in the State of the respective railroads are shown. This table has been prepared by making up from the operating revenues and operating expenses reported for Michigan by interstate roads an income statement for their Michigan business by deducting taxes, adding a proportion of auxiliary business, together with a reasonable proportion of other income, and deducting the Michigan proportion of joint facilities, rents, hire of equipment, leases of roads, interest accruals and other deductions. In the case of those roads operating solely in Michigan the income statement is the same as reported by the road. The results of the year's operations are as shown in the second column. It will be noted that twenty-three roads operating in the State closed the year with a surplus, and that thirty-three of the roads closed the year with a deficit.

In the third column is shown the interest deductions for the operating roads for Michigan. It will be noted that this interest total does not correspond with the total shown for Michigan in column five. This is due to the fact that the footing of column five shows interest accruals on the funded debt of subsidiary roads and leased roads as well as on operating roads. It will be noted that the net footing of the second column is a deficit of $7,601,388.17. This deficit takes care of the year's interest accruals, or in other words, the operating roads in Michigan lack $7,601,388.17 of paying interest charges for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1914. To state it in a different way, the roads earned above all fixed charges and expenses except interest, the sum of $1,711,601.25.

Of the roads operating in the State, four, namely the C. & N. W., the D. & M., the D. & T. S. L. and the C. D. & C. G. T. Jet., paid dividends and had sufficient earnings from Michigan business to pay Michigan's proportion of such dividends. The L. S. & M. S. Ry. also paid dividend from income, but shows no net income for Michigan. The M. C. R. R. also paid dividend from income but it was not earned either in Michigan nor upon the entire line, as shown in their report. While it is shown as paid from income, in effect it was paid from surplus.

The motion prevailed.

The following is the protest:

To the Honorable House of Representatives, Lansing, Mich.

Dear Sirs:—We, the undersigned, citizens or residents of Detroit, county of Wayne, State of Michigan, do hereby protest against the passage of House bill No. 139, introduced by Wm. F. Jerome, for the purpose of co-ordinating the health service of the State, for the following reasons:

1st. This is a most vicious piece of class legislation designed for the purpose of compelling recognition of one class of medical practitioners to the exclusion of all others, and clearly abridges the rights of citizens to the freedom granted them under the Constitution of the State and of the government in that it allows entry to and examination of the home without any process of law.

2nd. The enormous addition to the State taxes which will ultimately be incidental to the passage of this bill is far beyond compensation for any benefits which may be hoped therefrom.

3rd. This bill places upon any rules of the State Health Board the sanction of the Legislature, giving these rulings the power and authority of a statute of the State.

4th. This legislation is not asked for by the people. Any demand which may be presented for the passage of this bill is an artificial one created solely at the urgent request of a class of political physicians who are now in control of the Health Department of our State.

5th. Every section or community within our State, no matter how remote, is today governed in health matters by statutes of the State, which are more than sufficient to meet the needs thereof, whether ordinary or extraordinary, and further legislation could not possibly provide better statutory protection.

The protest was referred to the Committee on Public Health.

The question being on agreeing to the title of the bill,

Mr. Newel Smith moved to amend the title so'as to read as follows:

A bill to provide for the registration, identification and regulation of motor vehicles operated upon the public highways of this State and of the operators of such vehicles and to provide for levying specific taxes upon such vehicles so operated and to provide for the disposition of such funds and to exempt from all other taxation such motor vehicles so specially taxed, registered, identified and regulated and to repeal all other acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith or contrary hereto.

The House agreed to the title of the bill as amended.

Mr. Ashley having reserved the right to explain his vote, sent to the desk and had read the following:

I vote "no" on this bill for the following reasons:

It is unjust to the district I represent in this House for the reason that it takes from the city of Detroit the right to place on the assessment rolls 26,568 registered automobiles which use the highways of the city of Detroit, which are built and maintained entirely by the taxpayers of that city. The amount expended last year for this purpose alone being $2,413,544.22. At least 80 per cent of the automobiles owned in Detroit never leave the confines of that city. We received from taxes on automobiles last year $376,784.65, which goes into our general fund to help maintain the highways of the district in condition for the use of motor vehicle traffic. This bill relieves automobiles from contributing but a very small amount to keep the pavements of my district in condition for their particular benefit.

The bill will operate to take off the tax rolls, not only of the city and the county, but of the State as well, the very class of property that should be left on the tax rolls. It is practically impossible to dodge the personal tax on automobiles. Every machine is registered in the office of the Secretary of State and its owner gets an annual request from the assessors for the tax on it. If any kind of property is to be removed from the general tax class it surely should be the kind that is least easy to locate, not the kind that is the most difficult to conceal.

The proposed tax will directly relieve the rich and will add to the tax burdens of the poor.

It is the most expensive automobile that benefits by this bill. Take a $6,000 limousine for an example. At present this must pay in personal tax something like $120 a year. Under the Smith plan, the same machine would pay according to its horsepower and its weight. Such an auto would show about 50 horsepower, and the rate of 25 cents here would call for a tax of $12.50. Its weight would be around 4,000 pounds, and on this there would be collected another $10.00. Altogether, when the Smith bill is operative, the owner of this $6,000 machine would pay $22.50 on it, where he is now paying $120, so that he would actually save nearly $100 a year on his taxes.

All high priced machines would benefit in the same way. The cheaper automobiles, those below $1,000 or somewhere in the neighborhood of that amount, would be left nearly where they are, but the rich man would be favored. It is not much wonder that Representative Flowers said yesterday that automobile owners are generally favorable to the bill. Indeed, it would be surprising if automobile owners, especially wealthy men who have a garage full of costly machines, were not heartily in favor of the bill.

But what about the poor man? By every dollar that is taken from the general assessment rolls he is made poorer, because the total sum that is raised for the government of the city, county and State stays stationary and his pro rata of it must be higher whenever any contributing taxpayers are relieved.

The owner of a cottage assessed at $2,000 will pay more taxes on his little home, in order that the owner of luxurious automobiles may pay less taxes. The family that is buying its home on the installment plan will give a few more dollars to support the government, and the rich man will give many dollars less.

Wayne county is not the only sufferer by this bill, gentlemen of the Legislature. What you propose to do is to lighten the tax burden of those who can best afford to pay taxes and to pile on shoulders that are already heavily weighted the load you are thus lifting from shoulders that hardly feel it.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. Nelson offered the following concurrent resolution:

House concurrent resolution No. 16.

First: During the last five years, 15 stock and general mutual fire insurance companies, and eight farmers' mutual fire insurance companies, making 23 in all, have ceased doing business in Michigan.

Second: There have been admitted to do business within this State during the last five years, 101 stock and general mutual fire insurance companies, and six farmers' mutual fire insurance companies, making 107 in all. Approximately 35 of those admitted during this period were companies that came in because of the passage of Act No. 129 of the Public Acts of 1911, which act prohibited the writing of unauthorized fire insurance in this State, and caused an unusual number of unauthorized companies to seek authorization under the law.

Third: The number of fire insurance companies that have reinsured their total risks in this State, during the last five years, is 47 stock and general mutuals, and one farmers mutual, making 48.

Fourth: Of the stock and general mutual fire insurance companies that have heretofore been authorized to do business in this State, approximately 300 have now ceased to exist. This, of course, only goes back to 1871, the date of the organization of the Insurance Department, and even these figures cannot be said to be absolutely accurate, because of the fact that a great many companies withdrew from doing business in this State a number of years before their failure or reinsurance, and, of course, we have no record in the Department of companies' transactions after they withdrew from this State, and, therefore, from the jurisdiction of the Department.

In addition to these 300, there were 48 farmers' mutuals that have gone out of existence, making 348 in all.

Fifth: The total amount of net premiums paid to all companies for fire insurance during the years 1909-10-11-12-13 and 14, is indicated in the following table:

Year.	Stock and General Mutual.	Farmers' Mutual.	Total.
1909	$7,998,783 00	$973,320 98	$8,972,103 98
1910	8,203,525 00	1,022,939 36	9,226,464 36
1911	8,649,333 00	1,042,473 03	9,691,806 03
1912	9,236,828 00	1,021,453 79	10,258,281 79
1913	9,245,137 00	*1,599,310 60	10,844,447 60
1914	9,204,710 00	*1,347,996 90	10,552,706 90
Total	$52,538,316 00	$7,007,494 66	$59,545,810 66

*Includes assessments levied.

In the answers to the above questions, by "farmers' mutuals" we mean companies organized under Act No. 82 of the Public Acts of 1873, and Act No. 262 of the Public Acts of 1895, and those organized under several other special acts of our Legislature, such acts having since been repealed.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN T. WINSHIP,
Commissioner of Insurance.

Resolutions adopted by the Real Estate Exchange of Bay City, opposing the Torrens tax bill so-called.

The following are the resolutions:

Resolved, That we do not favor the passage of the so-called Torrens bill now pending before the Legislature of the State, and believe it is not for our best interests or the interests of the property owners, be it further

Resolved, That the proposed change would complicate instead of simplifying the transfer of titles and would be not only more expensive to the parties interested but would add a useless expense to the taxpayers at large. That it would result in endless complications and delays and render the decisions of our Supreme Court, that have for years settled our Real Estate laws, useless, be it further

Resolved, That we send to the Real Estate Boards of the State a copy of these resolutions and ask that they use their influence to defeat the bill.

The above resolution was, without a dissenting vote, adopted at a meeting of the Bay City Real Estate Exchange, held on March 11, 1915.

T. E. WEBSTER,
Vice-President.

HARRY J. TIERNEY,
Secretary.

By unanimous consent.

Mr. Henry sent to the desk a communication from the Attorney General, received by the Committee on Railroads, relative to the railroad passenger rate question, and moved that it be spread upon the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

The following is the communication:

To the Joint Committee on Railroads of the Senate and House of Representatives, Capitol, Lansing:

Gentlemen:—Some time since, you requested me to appear before your committee in connection with the bills which have been introduced increasing the passenger rate on the various railroads of the State. At the time I appeared my information was of such a general character as that I was unable to give you in detail figures tending to show that figures furnished by the railroad companies on a rate question should not to be taken without further investigation. My general information on the subject, however, was of such a character that I then took occasion to advise that there be no increase in passenger rates in the State of Michigan until the question of passenger rates could be thoroughly investigated by a competent tribunal with the view of furnishing the Legislature definite information on the subject before it acted. At that time the case of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Railway Company against the Railroad Commission and the Attorney General was being argued at Detroit and all papers with reference to that case were there being used at that hearing and were not accessible to me. The figures in the South Shore case, I should state, are the only figures available in this department upon the question of passenger rates. While two other cases are pending involving this question, no testimony has been taken in either of them, and the figures in the South Shore case are the only ones I am able to submit to you. I do not desire to be regarded as attempting to try the South Shore case before you, but only desire to submit to you without argument the difference in the claim of the railroad company in this case and the claim of the State. These figures are submitted for the purpose of complying with your request as far as lies within my power and will demonstrate beyond question that where the question of fixing a rate is concerned, valuations, figures, theories and results differ radically and that only by a careful examination of these valuations, figures, theories and results will a correct conclusion be reached. Undoubtedly the South Shore case has been as well prepared and submitted as any rate case in the country. If the State succeeds in this litigation, and I believe it will, the credit should be given to two of my predecessors, Judge Kuhn and Mr. Wykes. The case was started under the administration of Judge Kuhn and the defense planned during his administration. That defense has been ably conducted by Mr. Wykes, and while since I have been in the department I have stood back of the defense in this case, the credit should belong to Judge Kuhn and Mr. Wykes, and I most cheerfully give it.

The question of the valuation of railroads did not become an important question in this State until the year 1902. In that year the first valid ad valorem assessment of railroads was made. Taking up the South Shore railroad, we find that in that year under its sworn statement, its value was fixed by its own officers at $4,462,261. The State Board of Assessors fixed the value in its tentative assessment at $11,250,000. The general counsel for the road appearing before the Board of Assessors claimed that it should not be assessed beyond $7,698,850. Upon a review of the assessment, the value of the road was fixed by the State Board at $12,500,000. In 1903, the road through its officers reported its value at $7,832,195. The tentative assessment fixed by the State Board of Assessors was $11,300,000. The general counsel of the road upon the hearing insisted that it should not be assessed beyond $9,000,000. The final figures in the assessment was $11,000,000. In 1904, this railroad through its officers fixed its value at $7,776,824. The tentative assessment was fixed at $10,000,000. The general counsel of the road, now its president, insisted that it should not be assessed beyond $7,950,000, and the figures fixed in the assessment were $9,500,000. In 1905, the company reported its value at $7,711,354. The tentative assessment was $9,650,000. The general counsel's figures were $8,434,133, and the assessment was fixed at $9,500,000. The following year, 1906, the road reported its value at $7,884,151. The figures of the tentative assessment were $9,650,000. Its general counsel claimed that it should not be assessed beyond $9,000,000. The figures of the final assessment were $9,625,000. In the succeeding year the road reported its value as $7,898,925. It was assessed both in the tentative and final assessment at $9,675,000. In 1908, it reported its value to be $7,655,582 and the tentative and final assessments were at the same figures as of the year before. In 1909, it reported its value as $7,425,535, and its tentative and final assessment was $9,600,000. In 1910 (and this was the year before the two-cent act was passed and before the railroad started the case to set aside the same), it reported its value at $7,768,605. Its tentative and final assessment was $9,600,000. In 1911, the two-cent fare law was passed and took effect, and the suit was started by the South Shore Company to restrain its enforcement. It then reported its value after the bringing of this suit, at $11,131,000, an increase under its own statement over the year before, of $3,362,395. The second year the lawsuit was pending, namely, 1912, it reported its value at $11,144,946. It was assessed both tentatively and finally at $9,600,000. In 1913, it reported its value at the same amount as the previous year, and the tentative and final assessment was $10,000,000.

A comparison between the high and the low points in these valuations showed that the railroad figures varied from its first report of $4,462,261, to $11,144,946 after its suit had been commenced, while the State's figures varied from $12,500,000, the first year of the assessment, to $9,500,000, the third and fourth years of the assessment; and while the State's figures have not varied as materially as have the company's figures, the variation is substantial.

Prior to the rate litigation, three valuations of railroad properties in the State of Michigan had been had under the direction of Professor Cooley. These were, respectively, in 1900, 1903 and 1905. In the 1900 valuation, the cost of reproduction of this property was found to be $11,433,233, and its present physical value as $8,325,624. In the 1903 appraisal, the cost of reproduction was found to be $11,821,036 and its present physical value as $9,087,095. In the appraisal of 1905, the cost of reproduction was placed at $12,818,512, and its present physical value at $9,960,405. In the company's reports since 1905, it has reported additions and betterments to the extent of $2,652,917, so that if we should take the present physical value of the road in 1905 as fixed by Professor Cooley and add to that sum the additions and betterments and make no further deductions for depreciation, the value of the road today would be $12,613,322. Three valuations of the South Shore property had been made for purposes of this litigation, two of them being made by the railroad company, one in 1911 and the other in 1913, and one valuation was made by the State in 1912. The valuation made in 1911, as corrected by the railroad company, fixed the cost of reproduction at $19,152,554, and the present physical value of the property at $16,148,701. The appraisal of 1913 (exclusive of land values) showed a claimed cost of reproduction of $17,784,369, and a present physical value (exclusive of the land) of $14,602,343. To this 1913 appraisal made by the company should be added their claim for the value of the land, bringing their total claim to $17,044,081 as the present physical value of the property. In this litigation it is the claim of the State that as of June 30th, 1913, the physical value of this property, including the land, is $11,457,169, or a difference between the claim of the company and the claim of the State of $5,586,912. While this difference in the present claim of the railroad company and the present claim of the State is at over five million and a half dollars, the difference between these claimed values almost sinks into insignificance when we compare the highest claim of the railroad company with its lowest claim, its highest being $17,044,081 and its lowest claim being the amount fixed by it in its sworn statement in 1902, at $4,462,261, a difference between its high and low figures of $12,581,820, or a difference between its high and low figures in excess of what the State is willing to concede the property is worth.

While time will not permit the consideration in detail of each of the schedules wherein the difference between the State and the railroad occurs, yet some of these schedules may be taken up for the purpose of showing that in a rate case there is a marked disagreement as to the value of the items which will go to make up the total. I shall therefore call your attention to a few of the schedules, giving the difference between the figures of the State and the railroad company.

The State's claim is that the land owned by the South Shore Company and used in the railroad business is worth $1,145,411. It is the company's claim that this land is worth $2,109,855. The difference in this item alone is $964,444. It is the claim of the State that these land values claimed by the company are grossly excessive, that those values include elements which would be eliminated under the Minnesota Rate case and that speculative rather than actual values have been used by the company. As an illustration: The company gives the land in the vicinity of Negaunee an extremely high valuation because of its mineral possibilities and because of the fact that Negaunee is a thriving city where surface rights are valuable. It also gives high values to land at Eagle Mills, three miles to the east of Negaunee, which has no population and no known ore possibilities, because it is claimed that at some remote period Negaunee will be moved to Eagle Mills so that the ore can be taken out of the ground at Negaunee and that therefore the land at Eagle Mills is of great value. It might be said with reference to Eagle Mills, that the State Tax Commission appraised this land at approximately $6.00 per acre, while witnesses called by the company fixed its value at $500 per acre, based upon the prospective moving of Negaunee to that point.

There is a material difference in the value of the grading as fixed by the State and by the company, the State allowing this item at the sum of $2,256,581, while the company's figures on this item are $2,841,422, a difference of $584,841. This difference is due to unit prices and the claim of the State that the company has not followed the rule laid down in the Minnesota Rate case.

The difference in the value of ties amounts to $118,316, the company fixing the value at $320,844 and the State fixing the value at $202,528. The item of ballast finds a difference of $132,958, the figures being as follows: The company's claim, $693,438, and the State's claim, $560,480. The track laying and surfacing approximates a difference of $100,000, the exact figures being as follows: State's claim, $198,358, and the company's claim, $298,266, or a difference of $99,908. The side tracks show a difference of $184,422, while docks and wharves show a difference of $154,374.

There is a difference of $306,188 in the value of the locomotives. This arises not by reason of a difference in the actual values of the property on hand, but the State insists that the company shall not charge into this item locomotives which have been ordered but not paid for and not delivered. The number of locomotives which have been ordered and not paid for and not delivered at the end of the fiscal year, but which the company insists should be put into their inventory, makes this difference between the company's figures and the State's figures.

Freight train cars show a difference of $377,200. This item of difference is caused as is the locomotive item, the State conceding the value of the freight train cars on hand to be the amount claimed by the company but declines to concede that cars ordered, not delivered and not paid for should go into the inventory.

Another item not of large size but of marked difference is engineering on equipment. The State declines to concede the value for engineering on equipment (although conceding that the company is entitled to engineering on construction). The company's claim for engineering on equipment being $52,437, which item is denied in toto by the State.

Another item of considerable amount in which there is a wide difference is the item of contingencies. The State declines to recognize this as a valid item in fixing the value of property already constructed. The State's claim on this being that the item of contingencies should be nothing, while the company's claim is that it should be allowed $918,429 for contingencies.

The State concedes that certain organization expenses should be allowed, but denies the amount claimed by the company as being the correct amount. The State concedes $24,579 for legal expenses as a part of the organization expenses. The company claims $61,749 for this item, not because it claims to have spent that amount, but because it claims that it is entitled to a percentage for that item. The State concedes $100,000 for organization, administration, etc. The company claims $247,000. The State concedes interest during construction of $437,566, while the company claims $1,139,288, the difference on these three items being $885,892.

CAPITAL.

The company claims that it has $167,106 in working capital. This item is denied in toto by the State. The stores and supplies shows a difference of $35,891.

A resume of the overheads and contingencies shows that the State's figures upon this item is $767,145, while the company claims for this item $2,751,567, a difference of $1,984,422, substantially two million dollars more in overheads and contingencies than the State is willing to allow.

While it is not the purpose in examining these figures to assail the accuracy of the figures furnished by the company in this trial, but only to show the great variation between the company's figures and the State's figures, it may be proper to call your attention to the fact that in this case a comparison of the company's appraisal with the actual cost as shown by the company's books show that upon forty-five items appearing in its appraisal the company had fixed the cost of reproduction $706,689 more than the actual cost of these forty-five items. And after charging off depreciation, the final figures after such excess charge was $302,740, or 115 per cent of their cost after the depreciation had been charged off. This table will be found at page 103 of the State's type-written brief.

It would be unnecessary to go further into details to demonstrate that the State in this lawsuit has disagreed materially from the claims of the company as to the actual value of the property as a whole and as to the items which make up that whole.

In the determination of a rate question the body fixing that rate would in its logical order first determine the value of the property as a whole. I have shown you some of the differences in the claims of the parties in the South Shore litigation. The body which determines the question would first take up these figures and after considering all of them would determine the value of the property for rate-making purposes. In logical sequence the next question would be, what proportion of that property is used in the passenger business, what percentage of it, in order to determine upon what value the company was entitled to earn its return. In the division between passenger and freight there is found certain property that is devoted exclusively to the passenger business, certain property that is devoted exclusively to the freight business, and certain property that is used in common by the two. In this division of the property there is also a marked conflict between the State and the railroad company, the State insisting that $509,516 is used exclusively in passenger business, and the company claiming that $834,708 is used exclusively in the passenger business. The State claims that of the common property, $1,850,789 should be assigned to the passenger business, while the railroad company claims that $4,772,665 of the property used in common should be assigned to the passenger business. Therefore, the State claims that this company is entitled to earn upon its passenger business an income on $2,360,305, while the company claims that it is entitled to earn in its passenger department upon a valuation of $5,607,373. If we divide the passenger business between the interstate and intrastate, the State claims that $1,547,888 of property is used in the intrastate passenger business, while the company claims that $3,415,887 are the correct figures to be used as a basis upon which a return should be earned. Some of this difference grows out of the difference in the valuation as fixed by the State and the railroad company, while a part of the difference exists in percentages. For example, the railroad company contends that 32.90 per cent of its total property is used in its passenger business, while the State claims that only 20.60 per cent of its property is used in the passenger business. The State further divides the passenger business between inter and intrastate business and claims that only 13.51 per cent of the company's property is used in its intrastate passenger business. It might be said at this point that if the State's claim upon this proposition is approximately correct, that the company is receiving a return far in excess of the legal rate of interest in the State of Michigan. Which of these figures are correct and which are inaccurate is a difficult question for the average layman to decide. Three and a half years have been spent in collecting them and an offhand judgment as to their correctness might work great hardship to one or the other of the contending parties.

As bearing upon the question of whether the figures furnished by the railroad companies should be taken at par and without investigation, I desire to call your attention to three items of controversy in the South Shore case. The first item grows out of an increase of $224,641.91 found in the inventory of 1913 in addition to the inventory of 1911, both inventories being furnished by the railroad company, and the amount just stated being beyond the amounts charged to additions and betterments during these two years. These figures are worked out in this manner: The appraisal of 1913 (excluding the lands) amounted to $14,449,407. The working capital, stores and supplies amount to $462,502, which, deducted from the first sum, leaves $13,986,905. The inventory of 1911 shows the appraisal (excluding lands) to be $13,156,703. Deducting working capital, stores and supplies leaves these figures $12,729,432, an increase in 1913 inventory over the 1911 inventory of $1,257,473.

An examination of the books of the company shows that during this period there was charged for additions and betterments $970,737.38, from which should be deducted real estate charges of $2,268.54, leaving the net addition and betterment charges $968,468.84. To this should be added $20,986.18 expended on bridges and charged to operation and $43,376 expended for car ferries and charged to income, making a total of additions and betterments of $1,032,831.02, and leaving an increase of $224,641.98 unaccounted for in the addition and betterment items. It is the claim of the State that either the 1913 appraisal is too high or that this amount has been charged to maintenance and operation instead of additions and betterments. This claim is substantiated by the surrounding circumstances. When suit was started, Mr. Delf in an affidavit filed made the following statement:

"The condition of the company's property for a long time has been such as to require large expenditures of money to make up for depreciation, not included in operating expenses or otherwise provided for prior to 1907, and also for betterments and additions required in order to enable the company to discharge its duties to the public * * * and has annually used large sums of money for the purpose of improving its property * * *."

Upon the trial various witnesses testified to the present (July, 1913) excellent condition of the property. In addition to that we have the fact that while the maintenance of way and structure expenses for the four years prior to the bringing of the suit averaged $422,018 per year, during the fiscal year 1913, that account increased to $581,520. As a further illustration, the ballast material for the five years previous to 1913 averaged $3,989.50 per annum, while for the year 1913 this account was $25,938.38. Indeed, the operating expenses for the year 1913 increased 18.4 per cent over the year 1910, and while the cost as claimed by them for carrying a passenger a mile in 1910 was 1.8965 cents, in 1913 the cost as claimed by them was 2.4311 cents, or an increase over 1910 of 28.19 per cent. Taking these facts together with others appearing in the case into consideration, it is the claim of the State that at least to the amount above indicated, viz.: $224,641.98, the bookkeeping of the company and the figures furnished by them are erroneous. I do not want to be understood in this statement as claiming that the bookkeeping is not in conformity with the rules laid down by the Interstate Commerce Commission, but do contend in a rate making case or investigation this claim of the State should be given consideration.

The next item involves the question of proportion of operating expenses that should be borne by the passenger department. The company claims that the common expenses should be divided as follows: To the passenger business, 46.98 per cent; to the freight business, 53.02 per cent. This division is not acquiesced in by the State. The State also insists that certain items of expenses which are charged by the company to the passenger department should not be charged against the passenger riding in the day coach. These items may be grouped under the head of sleeping and dining car service. Under the company's claim, the direct cost of this business for the year 1913 was $63,034. The State insists that to this sum should be added the following items: Assignment of indirect cost (this being the proportion of total passenger service cost that the State claims this service should bear), $144,102; hire of equipment, $1,027; taxes (proportional), $2,703; Mackinaw Transportation Company (proportional), $4,427; making a total sum to be charged against this service of $215,293. The total revenues from this service amounted to $64,759, showing a loss of $150,534. It is the claim of the State that the passenger riding in the day coaches should not be charged a rate adequate to make up this deficiency.

The next and last item of the three involves the Mackinaw Transportation Company. This company is an independent organization which operates the car ferry between St. Ignace and Mackinaw City, and is owned by the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic, the Michigan Central and the Grand Rapids & Indiana railroads.

The company transports both passenger and freight cars between these two points for the benefit of these three railroads. No arbitrary charge is made for the transportation of freight and freight cars, which numbered in 1913, 46,092. The company does receive a small revenue for carrying package freight locally and mail and express between Mackinac City and St. Ignace. It makes an arbitrary charge of fifty cents for each passenger transferred, whether in the cars of the South Shore or not. The number of passenger train cars transferred during the year was 6,045.

Inasmuch as no arbitrary charge is made for transporting freight in freight cars, the operation of this company shows a loss. At the end of each month the net cost of operation is apportioned among the three railroads owning it. The railroad company apportioned this loss between its passenger and freight departments on the basis of the direct revenues in Michigan in each class. As a result, it claims and charges against the passenger business in this case for the year 1910, $8,983; for the year 1911, $6,788; for the year 1912, $9,888; for the year 1913, $22,074. It is the contention of the State that the passenger pays his way, and a substantial sum in addition. Computations which have been made by the defendants indicate that there was no loss in the passenger side of the business for any year, but a profit instead; the claim being that the losses charged by the complainant to the passenger business should be eliminated and a profit substituted in amounts as follows: For the year 1910, $11,075; for the year 1911, $13,286; for the year 1912, $12,953, and for the year 1913, $12,858.

It should be said, however, in passing, that some of the claims made by the complainant with reference to these three items had been materially modified under the vigorous protests of the State. I have only given them for the purpose of showing that the figures furnished by the company in a rate case or a rate investigation should not pass without challenge and without a thorough investigation of each and every item that make up the total.

The railroad company has submitted in this case three computations with reference to the amount of operating expenses that should be assigned to the passenger department. These claims, reduced to percentages, are as follows: Complainant's exhibit No. 72, total passenger, 35.59 per cent; intrastate passenger, 24.44 per cent. Complainant's exhibit No. 72, revised, total passenger, 33.16 per cent; intrastate passenger, 22.02 per cent. Complainant's computation filed with the argument, total passenger, 31.48 per cent; intrastate passenger, 20.87 per cent. During the argument several changes were made by the complainant which it is estimated will further reduce the passenger proportion of the expenses. The defendants have filed five computations of the amount of operating expenses that should be charged to the passenger department. These figured out on the basis of percentages are as follows: Defendants' exhibit No. 77, total passenger, 25.59 per cent, which in this exhibit is separated into sleepers and diners, mail and express, passengers and baggage, the percentage for the passengers and baggage being 16.30 per cent. Defendants' second computation shows the percentage charged the total passenger to be 29.13, the intrastate passenger percentage being 18.41. The third computation submitted by the State reaches the same results in percentages, although a different method is used to produce these figures. The State's fourth computation worked out in percentages shows total passenger, 28.92; intrastate passenger, 18.64. The fifth computation worked out by the State shows the total passenger, 31.67 per cent, and the intrastate passenger, 20.14 per cent.

The final question for determination in a rate case or rate investigation is "what is the return?" the company being entitled to a reasonable return upon its passenger business, and all of the steps which I have enumerated and all of the figures which I have given lead up to the solution of this final question. Three successive computations have been submitted by the company showing their claim of return on the intrastate passenger business, and the percentage of net income from that business has been computed. It should be borne in mind that the company has been collecting three cents per mile and the figures here given in the computations of the company and of the State are upon the basis of three cents per mile.

The first computation submitted by the company claimed a return of only $15,843. This reduced to percentages would mean a return of 0.46 per cent, so that it will be seen that if the company's figures were accepted without investigation and without controversy we would be obliged to come to the conclusion that a three-cent rate was confiscatory as applied to this company, and that practically no return was being had by the railroad even at three cents per mile. The second computation submitted by the company was a modification of the first one, and shows a return of $94,996, which produced a return of 2.78 per cent. The third computation was $130,054, which reduced to percentage of return would be 3.81 per cent. I understand that still further modifications will be filed, but they have not thus far been prepared and are not before me.

The six computations made by the State show the following results on the intrastate passenger business. The first computation shows net return, $355,675; per cent of return, 22.98. The second computation shows net return $297,920; per cent of return, 19.25. The third computation shows a net return of $239,960; per cent of return, 15.50. The fourth computation shows a net return of $239,852; per cent of return being 15.50. The fifth computation shows a net return of $234,831; the per cent of return being 15.17. The sixth computation shows net return, $201,880; and the per cent of return, 13.04.

It will therefore be seen by a comparison of these respective claims that under the claim of the company, the company is not receiving an adequate return even at three cents, while under the claim of the State it is receiving much in excess of an adequate return on the three cents per mile basis.

It should not be assumed that in these figures submitted, that anything more than the high points of the controversy as to values, figures, percentages and results have been touched. Over ten thousand pages of testimony have been taken, practically every page of which bristles with conflict between the company and the State. Nor should it be understood that I have submitted these figures for the purpose of establishing the correctness of the State's claim. I have submitted these figures for one purpose and one purpose only. To demonstrate to this committee that figures submitted in a rate-making investigation or case should not be taken at par and should not be taken without a full and complete investigation. That investigation cannot be had in the brief space of time encompassed by the session of the Legislature. Two methods of investigation are open, one in suits by the railroad companies to set aside the rate fixed by the statute, the other an investigation by a commission or tribunal charged with the performance of that service. As between these two it seems to me the latter plan is the most feasible. The length of time and the expense of the trial of a rate case would exceed that of a board or commission. In fact, I think a complete investigation could be made by a board or commission covering the entire railroads of the State within as short a time and with no more expense than would be incurred in the preparation and trial of a rate case in court. I therefore recommend that there be no change in the present law until and unless a thorough investigation demonstrates and shows its necessity.

GRANT FELLOWS,
Attorney General.

Mr. Empson arose to a question of personal privilege for the purpose of correcting a misunderstanding, by certain members, of some remarks made by him on the floor of the house yesterday when the so-called Howell's Annotated Statutes bill was under consideration. Mr. Empson stated that some members had evidently understood him to criticize the index gotten out in 1906 to the Compiled Laws of 1897. He said that what he did criticize was the index gotten out in 1897, at the time the laws were compiled; and that he had commended the index gotten out in 1906 by Charles S. Pierce, Paul H. King and Mrs. Ada B. Shier. To make clearer the meaning he intended to convey yesterday, he wished to say now that if the Compiled Laws of 1897 and the index made at that time had been prepared with the same care as was the index of 1906, there would have been no necessity for the making of the later index.

The House agreed to the title of the bill.

Mr. Hoffman, having reserved the right to explain his vote, sent to the Clerk's desk and had read the following:

I voted against the House substitute for Senate bill No. 42 (file 35), believing that it will not become a law and would therefore leave us without any means of preventing the sale of cigarettes to minors, and for the further reason that said substitute bill does not prevent the manufacture or the sale by jobbers of cigarettes.

Mr. Culver having reserved the right to explain his vote, sent to the Clerk's desk the following:

I am willing to support the Morford bill providing that the section which exempts boys under 21 years from prosecution if they turn informers be stricken out. To my mind any bill which makes it an object for boys under the age of twenty-one years to turn snake is bad legislation. It was my intention to move that that portion of the bill be stricken out, and if that was done I would be prepared to support it. I believe that this bill is being offered and supported for the purpose of killing the Morford bill and for that reason I voted yea.

The Speaker laid before the House the following communication:
To the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the State of Michigan:
The undersigned commissioners for the collection, compilation and reprinting of the General Laws of this State, appointed pursuant to the provisions of Act 247 of the Public Acts of 1913, hereby report, in accordance with said act, laws that are deemed to be obsolete or inoperative, with the recommendation that they be expressly repealed:

A complete list of these obsolete or inoperative laws accompanies this communication.

We further submit to your honorable body that the work of compiling and arranging the general laws of the State up to and including the Public Acts of 1913, together with the historical notes and references thereto was finished by us about March 15, 1914. Since that date we have been engaged in digesting the decisions of the Supreme Court relating to such general laws and preparing a list of laws which we deem to be obsolete and which should be repealed. Act 247 of 1913, under which we were appointed requiring us to report to the Legislature of 1915 all laws we deemed obsolete, has compelled us to await the final completion of our work until you should determine whether the obsolete laws reported by us should be repealed. We also assumed that you might follow the precedent established in the compilation of 1897 (Act 26 of Public Acts of 1897) of requiring the Public Acts of the present session to be included in our compilation before the same was printed. Inasmuch as section 4 of Act 247 of the Public Acts of 1913 requires you at the present session to provide for the publication and binding of our compilation, as well as to take action upon the obsolete laws reported by us, it follows that it will be impossible for us to affix chapter and serial numbers to our compilation until you determine the question of the repeal of these obsolete laws and the further question of whether the Public Acts of the present session shall be included in our compilation.

We further beg leave to submit that in our opinion our compilation may be printed and bound in three volumes (exclusive of the index) approximating the size of volume 2 of the compilation of 1897, provided that the type and kind of paper used is similar to that used in the first volume of the book lately published known as "Corpus Juris."

We further report to you that the digesting and annotating of the decisions of the Supreme Court has been a work of great magnitude and considering the legal aid employed has taken more than what would be equal to the entire time of the three commissioners for one year. This work of digesting is now so far completed that as soon as you shall make provision for the printing and publication of this compilation the completed manuscripts can be placed in the hands of the printer and continued until the whole is printed, unless you should require the laws of the present session to be included in such compilation. Should you follow the precedent established in 1897 of including the Public Acts of the present session and bringing the decisions down to date, it follows that some time must elapse before the laws of 1915 can be obtained for compilation, but in that event we believe that we may safely report without question that our compilation will be fully completed and ready for printing by the first of January, 1916.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

EDMUND C. SHIELDS,
CYRENIUS P. BLACK,
ARCHIBALD BROOMFIELD,
Commissioners.

I am not insisting upon going on record, but simply to explain to the members of the House and Mr. Daigneau. As a member of the Horticulture Committee I have listened to the discussion pro and con. I am not a fruit grower, and am not posted as to the necessities. I have been informed by the Dairy and Food Commissioner that the United States law requires that all packages shipped out of the State must bear the net weight in order to comply with the law. I have always made it a practice on the floor of this House, when I cannot clearly define my own judgment, and if I am not satisfied after the discussion just what my duty is to vote the negative in order not to make matters worse. Consequently I voted "no."

Ninth. What is the additional departmental expense to the Auditor General's department occasioned by increased duties caused by operation of this statute?

Answer: The estimated additional expense to the department of the Auditor General caused by the increased number of descriptions of mineral reservations returned for the past two years for the salaries of clerks and other office expenses is $13,000.00.

Tenth. What disposition has been made of the Auditor General's petition for sale of delinquent mineral reservation taxes in the several counties?

Answer: The petition of the Auditor General relative to the sale for taxes on descriptions of mineral reservations was objected to in the counties of Baraga, Gogebic, Iron, Menominee and Ontonagon and I understand will be objected to in Dickinson county.

The court sustained the objections in all of the counties where they were made with the exception of Baraga county. The attorney for the objectors has appealed from the decision of the court in that county and the Attorney General has appealed in behalf of the State from the decisions in the other counties; and as an evidence of the difficulty of making a valid assessment of mineral reservations, I quote the following testimony of one of the assessing officers in Iron county at the time of the hearing of the objections to the petition of the Auditor General:

"CHARLES W. HUGHES, sworn on behalf of objectors, testified as follows:

MR. SHERWOOD:

Q. You were supervisor of the township of Hematite in this county in 1912?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And you placed the valuation in that township upon the lands of these objectors on what you have called in your roll, mineral reservation?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you know, in 1912, of any known deposit of ores or minerals upon any of these descriptions?

A. No, sir.

Q. In getting at that value, how did you reach the value?

A. Why, we had a meeting of the county board; we all agreed that we had no way of finding out what was under the surface, and put on a flat rate.

Q. You mean that the supervisors of the county agreed to assess the mineral estate in these lands that had been reserved, at a flat rate?

A. Yes.

Q. Regardless of location or any valuation of one compared with another, or anything of that sort?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And that was because none of you knew anything about the value of this mineral estate in this reservation?

A. No; no way of finding out where it was.

Q. It was arbitrarily fixed at this flat rate by an agreement between the supervisors of the county?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. And in assessing Hematite township you carried out that agreement?

A. Yes.

Q. And the board of review of your township followed out that assessment and that agreement?

A. Yes, sir.

COURT:

Q. What was the rate?

A. A dollar an acre.

Q. You were well acquainted with the lands in that township?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you consider the mineral rights in the lands in that township worth that much?

A. We put it at a dollar an acre.

Q. What was your best judgment as to the value of the mineral rights in these lands?

A. A dollar an acre.

Q. You thought that was a fair value?

A. Yes, sir. I didn't see any other way of getting at it.

MR. SHERWOOD:

Q. You thought some of those lands on which minerals were reserved were worth more than others?

A. If we knew where the mineral was.

COURT:

Q. If you knew where the mineral was, did you fix the rate?

A. No, because we were not positive.

Q. If you were not positive, you didn't know?

A. No.

Q. Where you knew there was mineral, did you fix the rate?

A. I didn't know where there was any mineral, or not.

MR. SHERWOOD:

Q. In other words, this was an arbitrary fixing of the values; and some, in your judgment, were worth more than that, and some less than that?

A. Yes."

It is apparent from the testimony of the assessing officer that it is impossible to determine the value of the minerals or the mineral reservation, especially where there is no way of knowing whether deposits of minerals exist or not.

Respectfully,

O. B. FULLER,

Auditor General.

MESSAGES FROM THE SENATE.

A message was received from the Senate re-transmitting Senate bill No. 174 (file No. 124), entitled

A bill to provide for the transfer of the powers and duties of the State Game, Fish and Forestry Warden to the Public Domain Commission, and to define the powers and duties of the Public Domain Commission in relation thereto, and to repeal all acts or parts of acts which conflict herewith.

And informing the House of Representatives that the bill was presented to the Governor on March 16, 1915, and returned by him to the Senate, without having been signed by him, and with his objections thereto, on March 25, 1915;

And further informing the House of Representatives that the Senate had passed the bill, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding, two-thirds of the Senators-elect having voted therefor.

The message from the Governor to the Senate, stating his objections to the bill, was transmitted with the bill, and is as follows:

State of Michigan.

Executive Office, Lansing.

To the President of the Senate, State Capitol, Lansing:

Sir:—I herewith return without approval,

Senate bill No. 174 (file No. 124), enrolled No. 6, entitled

A bill to provide for the transfer of the powers and duties of the State Game, Fish and Forestry Warden to the Public Domain Commission, and to define the powers and duties of the Public Domain Commission in relation thereto, and to repeal all acts, or parts of acts, which conflict therewith.

Are the duties of the State Game, Fish and Forestry Warden and the duties of the Public Domain Commission, by their very nature, so interrelated that the work of the two departments is duplicated? If the work is so interrelated why has the Public Domain Commission failed to ask for this transfer; why does the Public Domain Commission disapprove of the transfer? I find no demand on the part of the citizens in any part of the State for this transfer.

The duties of the State Game and Forestry Warden are essentially police duties and apply to all parts of the State. The duties of the Public Domain Commission are constructive, creative, scientific, and apply chiefly to the newer sections of the State. In the two departments there is no harmony in their ideals, no uniformity in their methods of work, and no similarity in the qualifications necessary for successfully administering their respective duties. The inevitable result will be an increase in expenditures, a decrease in efficiency, and a marked diminution in the State-wide influence of both departments. There is, therefore, no logical reason for combining the two departments.

The experience of other states is worthy of consideration. A writer in a recent issue of the "American Forestry" magazine says: "Such plans have failed of effectiveness under trial, and tended to loss of efficiency and interest in forestry on the part of the commission." All of the New England states have separate commissions for forestry service, together with New Jersey, Maryland, Ohio, Idaho, Montana, Washington and California. Alabama after eight years' trial of combining the two departments, is now considering a separation; likewise Texas. Reference is frequently made to New York; but in this state the two classes of work maintain entirely separate sets of wardens overlapping in the same territory. In other words, New York has never attempted to combine the field work of the fish and game wardens with that of the forest and fire wardens. Governor Whitman in his recent message to the legislature says: "The work of the divisions of the forestry and of fish and game must be kept entirely separate."

This bill was rushed through both Houses without adequate discussion. If this act was "necessary for the preservation of public peace, health and safety" and given immediate effect, why this absence of discussion? I object to this act because I believe it is injurious to the best interests of the State of Michigan.

Very truly yours,
WOODBRIDGE N. FERRIS,
Governor.

The question being on the passage of the bill, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding.

Mr. Tufts moved that there be a call of the House.

The motion prevailed.

MESSAGES FROM THE SENATE.

A message was received from the Senate transmitting Senate concurrent resolution No. 13.

Whereas, Certain statements have been made and are now being circulated in and about the Capitol charging that there has been improper conduct on the part of the representatives of the railroads of this State who are asking this Legislature for the enactment of a law authorizing increases in railroad passenger rates, and

Whereas, There have been presented to the public of this State through the medium of the press, statements of a similar character intimating, if not directly charging, the said railroad representatives with the corrupt use of money and other illegal and improper means in furthering such rate legislation, and

Whereas, In an issue of the Grand Rapids Herald of March 19, 1915, there appeared an article, apparently based upon interviews with certain members of the House of Representatives, in which article, after characterizing certain attorneys of the railroad companies as "lobbyists," the following language is used:

"These lobbyists have threatened some bills unless those who stood sponsor for them came around the railroad side of thinking. They have attempted to engender opposition to various bills in order to bring over those who stood behind them. Every means possible is said to have been used to bring the Legislature to the side of the railroads," and

Whereas, By the following language used in said article, viz.: "We would like to know, for instance, if the railroads did raise $300,000.00 slush fund for the purpose of putting this fare bill through the Legislature, as has been rumored repeatedly around Lansing," it is intimated, if not directly charged, that the railroad companies are making improper use of money in an attempt to bring about favorable legislation, and

Whereas, In recent speeches made upon the floor of the House serious charges, by implication, were made against certain members of the Railroad Commission with reference to railroad legislation, and

Whereas, Every such statement and insinuation is a direct affront and reflection upon the integrity of this Legislature as a whole and each individual member thereof, and

Whereas, In justice to this honorable body, its individual members, the people of the State, State officers, the representatives of the railroads of this State and all others whose names have become involved in this matter, it is imperative that there should be an immediate investigation to determine the truth or falsity of the before-mentioned statements and rumors, and the source or sources from which they emanate; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That the President of the Senate appoint forthwith a committee of five of the members of the Senate to act jointly with a similar committee to be appointed by the Speaker of the House, which committee shall investigate in detail the activities and conduct of all those persons who have been and are supporting or opposing the proposed railroad legislation for the purpose of determining whether or not improper or unlawful methods have been employed to influence the conduct of any members of the Legislature or any State officer.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM STATE OFFICERS.

The following communication from the Auditor General was received and read:

Auditor General's Office,
Lansing, Michigan, March 29, 1915.

Hon. Charles W. Smith, Speaker, House of Representatives:

Dear Sir:—Complying with House resolution No. 44, I submit the following:

In the event of House bill No. 302 (file 91), becoming a law, it may be assumed that it will be deemed advisable and necessary to supply the same officials with copies of the compilation of the laws to whom the Compiled Laws of 1897 were furnished in accordance with Act 26 of 1897, Act 44 of 1899, as amended by Act 240 of 1911, which provides for the distribution of the Public Acts of each session of the Legislature.

Section 7 of Act 26 of 1897 provides that the Compiled Laws shall be distributed in the same manner in which the Public Acts are distributed. Also see report of the Attorney General of 1900, page 152.

It will require more than nine thousand sets of the Compiled Laws to supply the officials entitled to receive them in accordance with Act 44 of 1899, and about two thousand additional sets to supply the commissions, boards, libraries and individuals mentioned in the act.

Should House bill No. 302 become a law, it will naturally follow that public policy will demand that the Legislature should equip the officials of the State with copies of the compilation of the laws mentioned in the bill for the reason that they are used as evidence by the courts with the result that the expense to the State will be the cost of a set of the books multiplied by the number of sets distributed to the several officials.

Respectfully,

O. B. FULLER,
Auditor General.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM STATE OFFICERS.

The following communication from the Attorney General was received and read:

Attorney General's Department,

Lansing, March 29, 1915.

Hon. Charles S. Pierce, Clerk, House of Representatives, Lansing, Michigan.

Dear Sir:—I am in receipt of your communication of the 25th instant transmitting a copy of a resolution adopted by the House of Representatives on March 23rd, as follows:

"Whereas, It has been freely stated that the passage of House bill No. 302 (file No. 91), will entail a large cost to the State; therefore be it Resolved, That the Attorney General be requested to furnish this House with an opinion as to whether the passage of said bill will entail such cost."

In compliance with the request contained in the said resolution, the House is respectfully advised as follows:

House bill No. 302, above referred to, reads as follows:

"A bill to authorize the general laws of this State, entitled 'Howell's Annotated Statutes of the State of Michigan, Second Edition,' to be received and used in evidence.

The people of the State of Michigan enact:

Section 1. That the general laws of the State of Michigan collected and arranged in six volumes, entitled 'Howell's Annotated Statutes of the State of Michigan, Second Edition,' by Colin P. Campbell, and based upon the compilation and annotation of Andrew Howell shall be received and admitted in all courts and proceedings, and by all officers in this State as evidence of the existing laws thereof with the like effect as if published under and by authority of the State."

Although your resolution does not state the reason for the supposition that the passage of the said bill will entail a large cost upon the State, I assume from the discussions that observations have been made to the effect that if the bill passes, the State will be required to purchase many thousands of volumes of the compilation in order to supply the various officials, both State and local, who were and are entitled to free copies of the Compiled Laws of 1897.

The purpose of House bill No. 302 as stated in the title is to authorize the use of the so-called Howell's Annotated Statutes to be received and used in evidence. On the face of the bill and under any clear construction of its provisions nothing further can be implied than that the general laws of the State as set forth in this compilation should be received by the courts and by officials as evidence of the enactments of the Legislature with the like effect as if published under and by authority of the State. This means simply that if in any proceeding it becomes necessary to prove any existing law, reference may be made to the particular law as set forth in the compilation under consideration, in the same manner as proof is now made by reference to the so-called Miller's Compilation of 1897. It does not mean on the contrary that the courts may not receive other and better evidence of the text of any statute, as for instance, by reference to the Session Laws as published and certified by the Secretary of State or by reference to the legislative records themselves.

As to the possible effect that if this bill is passed the State will be required to furnish free to the many officials who are entitled to copies of the Compiled Laws of 1897, or other laws and documents printed by authority, I am of the opinion that such could not be the effect.

The publication and distribution of the Compiled Laws of 1897 is governed solely by Act 26 of the Public Acts of 1897, entitled "An act to provide for the completion, printing, binding, distribution and sale of the Compiled Laws of 1897." This act both by its title and by its several provisions relates solely to the compilation authorized and known as "The Compiled Laws of 1897." This act authorizes the free distribution of the said compilation in the following manner:

"Sec. 7. An edition of twenty thousand copies of said compilation shall be printed and bound by the State printer and binder and shall be delivered to the Secretary of State for distribution. They shall be distributed in the same manner as the Public Acts are distributed; and, in addition to the persons entitled to copies under such distribution, one copy each shall be delivered to the Senators and Representatives of the Legislature of 1895 who are not members of the present Legislature and one copy each to the compiler and the two commissioners."

It will be noted that reference is made in the above section to the manner in which the Public Acts are distributed. At the time Act 26 of the Public Acts of 1897 went into effect, the law governing the distribution of the Public Acts was Act 122 of the Public Acts of 1889 and is found in sections 1541 to 1558, Compiled Laws of 1897. This act was superseded by Act 44 of the Public Acts of 1899, which has been amended from time to time by various acts of the Legislature. An examination of Act 44 of the Public Acts of 1899, and other acts amendatory thereof, discloses the fact that no reference is made therein to the distribution of the Compiled Laws. This act prescribes the laws, documents and reports that are to be printed and distributed and the various officials and others who are entitled to receive copies of the same. There is no provision of this act which by any means could be construed as authorizing a distribution of the Compiled Laws of 1897 or any other general compilation. Inasmuch as the persons and officials who are entitled to the free distribution of the Compiled Laws of 1897 are governed solely by Act 26 of the Public Acts of 1897, and so far as I am aware after a careful examination, there is no other law applicable, it necessarily follows there would be no authority for a free distribution of the compilation referred to in House bill No. 302, referred to in your resolution.

Before such a free distribution could be made it would be necessary for the State to purchase copies to be distributed and this purchase could only be made by an act authorizing the same which would carry a sufficient appropriation for that purpose. Section 16 of Article 10 of the Constitution provides:

"No money shall be paid out of the State treasury except in pursuance of appropriations made by law."

The only possible cost to the State which would be entailed by the passage of this bill would arise in the following manner. Requisitions are occasionally made by State officers, such as the several departments, boards and commissions, for books and publications not printed by the State, in the same manner as other office supplies are requisitioned. The number of State officers and departments who are entitled to make requisition upon the State Board of Auditors in this manner is very limited, and of course, does not include circuit courts, probate courts, county, city, school or township officers. The expense incident to filling such requisitions would, therefore, be a small item and doubtless has very little relation to the question at issue. An estimate of the expense to be incurred in this manner could possibly be furnished by the State Board of Auditors, if desired.

Very respectfully,

GRANT FELLOWS,
Attorney General.

The following communication from the Attorney General was received and read:

Attorney General's Department,
Lansing, March 29, 1915.

Hon. Charles S. Pierce, Clerk, House of Representatives, Capitol:

Dear Sir:—I wish to acknowledge receipt of copy of House resolution No. 41, requesting that I give to the House of Representatives my views with respect to the interpretation and constitutionality of House bill No. 77. The measure in question is entitled "An act to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors within five miles of the boundary line or lines of the main campus of the University of Michigan, The Michigan Agricultural College, The State Normal College, The Central Michigan Normal School, The Northern State Normal School, The Western State Normal School or the Michigan College of Mines." The provisions of section 1 declare it to be unlawful "to keep for sale, sell, distribute, give away, or take an order or make an agreement for the sale or delivery of any intoxicating liquor within five miles of the boundary line or lines of the main campus" of any of the institutions named in the title. It will be noted that the body of the measure is much broader and more comprehensive than is the title. In other words, while the title refers only to the sale of intoxicating liquors, section 1 of the bill is so worded as to include, in addition to the actual sale, the keeping for sale, distribution, giving away, taking an order, or making an agreement for the sale or delivery.

Section 21 of Article V, of the present State Constitution requires that "no law shall embrace more than one object which shall be expressed in its title." In conformity with this constitutional provision, the title of any legislative enactment must be sufficiently broad and definite as to fairly indicate to the public as well as to the legislative body, the scope and general purpose thereof. Stated somewhat differently the act may not be broader than the title.

In the comparatively recent case of Vernor vs. Secretary of State, 179 Mich. 157, the Supreme Court referring to the constitutional provision with reference to the title of any law, said:

"What is the constitutional test? We think it is that a title must embrace the object of the act, and the body of the act must not be inconsistent with the title. The pertinent questions should be: Does the title of the act fairly indicate the purpose of the legislation? Is the title a fair index of the act? Does the title of the act fairly inform the legislators and the public of its purposes, as a whole?"

Applying this test to House bill No. 77, I believe that the conclusion can not be avoided that the title as drawn is insufficient to fairly apprise the public generally of the provisions of the body of the bill with reference to acts there prohibited other than the actual sale of intoxicating liquors. Certainly it can not be said that this title is a fair index to all of the provisions that are contained in the measure. In view of the constitutional requirement and the decisions of the Supreme Court of this State construing the same, it is my opinion that the bill must be considered defective for the reason suggested and that, if it were enacted in its present form it would be held invalid.

My attention is also challenged to the fact that the particular localities that must be affected by the measure, if enacted, are specifically designated in the title and also in section 1 of the bill. The purpose sought to be attained is of course the suppression of the liquor traffic within the designated distance from the various educational institutions named. It is established beyond question that it is competent for the Legislature to regulate the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor and to prohibit the same throughout the entire State or in certain classes of localities where conditions are deemed to be different than existing elsewhere. It is likewise settled that in the enactment of any such measure pursuant to the general police power of the State, the Legislature may classify the persons or objects upon which the measure is to operate. Such right of classification is, however, always subject to the limitation that it must be reasonable and not arbitrary or fanciful. By way of illustration, attention may be called to the provisions of the present general liquor law with respect to the establishment of saloons in residence districts and within specified distances of school houses or churches. However, when the Legislature sees fit to exercise its power and to make a classification of this kind the measure must be applicable to all of the members of the class or classes so established. If limited in its scope to a portion only of the members of the class, the act becomes special and is in consequence subject to constitutional provisions and requirements governing special legislation generally. The general rule in this respect is laid down in Sutherland on Statutory Construction, section 129, as follows:

"If a statute is plainly intended for a particular case, and looks to no broader application in the future, it is special or local and, if such laws are prohibited on the subject to which it relates, is unconstitutional."

In accordance with this general principle, as declared by Sutherland, it has been held repeatedly that any law that embraces only part of a given class, and the objects upon which it operates are specifically designated, is special legislation; and that it may not be regarded as a general law unless it embraces all of the given class and is not specific in application. Thus, in the case of Guthrie Daily Leader vs. Cameron, 41 Pac. 635, it was held that an act of the Territory of Oklahoma referring in terms to a certain printing company was repugnant to an act of Congress prohibiting the passage of local or special laws in the territories of the United States. Another decision that would seem to be squarely in point, is that of Bullock vs. Robinson, 93 N. E. 998. The statute here involved applied only to cities in which certain designated conditions existed in the year 1908. The act was so drawn as to prevent other cities from subsequently entering into class affected even though the same identical conditions might be brought about therein. The Constitution of the State prohibited local and special laws in certain cases and the Supreme Court of Indiana held accordingly that the statute was special and repugnant to the Constitution on that ground. Inasmuch as the same question is presented by House bill No. 77, I wish to quote from the opinion of the Indiana Supreme Court, as follows:

"It is altogether possible that there may, in the future, be cities in Indiana, having a population of one hundred thousand that had no existence in 1908, and as to such cities the act as an entirety could not apply because of the lack of taxables for 1908. It is very probable that in the future there will be cities attaining the one hundred thousand class whose taxables, as shown by the tax duplicate of 1908, are small in comparison with those of Indianapolis in 1908, and yet the needs of such supposed city for further improvement in instruction in drawing and in manual and industrial training might be greater than those of Indianapolis. Consequently the legislation can not operate equally upon all within the class, and the reason for the partial or total exclusion of some cities from the class does not inhere in the subject-matter."

Applying the general rule as laid down by text writers and by the courts to the measure under consideration we are confronted with this fact: This bill as drawn designates specifically, by reference to certain educational institutions of the State the particular localities to which it shall apply. Within its scope and protection are the University, The Agricultural College, The College of Mines and the four Normal Colleges of the State. If enacted the measure could not apply in any other locality in its present form. If a new Normal School should be created by a legislative enactment, or if some other institution of higher learning were to be established, the protection evidently designated by this Act could not be invoked therefor. Instead of being general in its terms so as to apply to all localities that are now or may hereafter be members of a general class to which reference is obviously intended, it is limited absolutely to the seven localities named.

I do not wish to be understood as suggesting that the Legislature of this State may not provide for the suppression of the liquor traffic within a reasonable distance of all State institutions of higher learning. Rather, the proposition that I wish to emphasize is that such legislation must be in general form so that all institutions of higher learning, similarly situated, shall be subject to the law. Where it is sought to designate particularly the institutions or localities that shall make up the class, the objection must always arise that the class of localities or institutions is hereby closed so that no locality or institution in which identically the same conditions might subsequently arise would be within its scope and protection. Such a measure may therefore, and in all probability would be, in actual operation, limited to a portion only of the general class of such localities. It is therefore within the definition of special legislation.

The distinction between a general and a special law of this character is indicated in the case of Ex parte Burke, 116 Pac. 755, where the Supreme Court of the state of California had under consideration a statute prohibiting the sale, giving away or offering for sale of intoxicating liquors within a specified distance of any University having an enrollment exceeding a certain number. The act was upheld as general legislation because, being worded in general terms it might and would apply to all institutions and localities where the conditions sought to be reached and remedied existed at the time the act became operative as well as the institutions and localities that might subsequently be brought within the scope of the act. So, in People vs. Kaelber, 253, Ill. 552, the Supreme Court of Illinois upheld an act prohibiting the sale of liquor within a certain distance of land "owned or maintained by the State of Illinois as a Soldiers and Sailors Home." That is, the law instead of specifically designating the Soldiers home or homes affected thereby, was generally worded so that subsequent homes that might be established would be entitled to the protection sought to be afforded by the act. Much stress was laid upon this fact by the court, it being declared that "a law is general, not because it embraces all of the governed, but because it may embrace all when they are similarly situated and come within its provisions." The distinction between the acts upheld in these two cases, and the measure under consideration is obvious. The California and Illinois statutes referred to were general in terms and applied to all localities within the scope of the act at the time of the passage thereof, and also to others in which the same conditions might exist subsequently. House bill No. 77, because the localities in which it shall operate are designated and its application elsewhere at any time wholly prevented, must, in my opinion, be deemed open to the objection that it is special in character.

In accordance with this view I believe that if enacted the measure would be held invalid as repugnant to section 30 of Article V, of the State Constitution, which provides that "the Legislature shall pass no local or special act in any case where a general act can be made applicable * * *." The case is clearly one in which a general law, that is, a law applicable to all localities in the State of the character in question, can be made to apply. Such being the case a local or special act can not be passed, under the letter of the Constitution, even though submitted to a vote of the electors in the district or districts affected thereby and ratified by such electors. It is my opinion herefore, in accordance with these suggestions, that the measure would, if enacted, be held to be repugnant to the Constitution on the ground: First,—That the title does not sufficiently indicate the purpose and provisions of the bill; and, Second,—That in its present form it must be classed as special legislation and within the inhibition declared in section 30 of Article V, of the State Constitution.

Respectfully yours,

GRANT FELLOWS,
Attorney General.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM STATE OFFICERS.

The following communication from C. L. Glasgow, a member of the Railroad Commission, was received and read:

Lansing, Michigan, March 31, 1915.

To the Honorable Speaker and Members of the House of Representatives:

Gentlemen:—Answering House resolution No. 43, relative to the paid ad appearing in the March 23rd issue of the State Journal, and purporting to be in substance the language used in an interview given by Commissioner Cunningham to a representative of the said State Journal, and asking if said statements of said Cunningham were made with the consent and approbation of said Michigan Railroad Commission, and representing the views and attitude of the said Commission or its other members, I beg to state:

First—The Commission in response to a request from your honorable body furnished certain information taken from the reports filed with said Commission by the several railroads operating in Michigan, and commented thereon, and no other or different statement (except the one later furnished upon request of the Senate) than the one so made and signed, has been authorized by the Commission.

Second—Answering your question as to whether the article printed in the said State Journal and purporting to represent a statement made by Commissioner Cunningham, met the approbation of the writer, I beg leave to state most emphatically it does not. In my judgment it violates one of the cardinal principles of the Commission observed by it since its creation.

Third—The peculiar position of the Commission, acting as it does in a quasi-judicial capacity in relation to all matters pertaining to railroads and their service to the public, forbids, in my judgment, any publication of personal views by the members of the Commission upon the question under consideration, either before or after its determination by your honorable body, and whether intended to influence such action or not.

Respectfully submitted,

C. L. GLASGOW.

Therefore, The Committee on Ways and Means, realizing how useless is a Speaker without a gavel, secured a blacksmith to make one staunch and firm, securely fastened and bound by many bands of metal, which the Committee think and hope will be beyond the strength of the Speaker, and which it presents to him with its sincere good wishes.
